Jefferson Experimental Lab Wins Praise of Experts

By DON GRIERSON

Jefferson High School's experimental "lab school" and other progressive education programs received high praise from two experts in the field Friday during a panel discussion.

John Poppy, senior editor for Look magazine, said he was "impressed with the vitality" of the experimental programs at the Daly City School, and Michael Murphy, president of the Esalen Institute at Big Sur, commended the staff and administration for efforts to "branch out in new directions."

Poppy and Murphy were among invited guests taken on a guided tour of the school's new reading clinic, lab school modulux, social studies resource center and math center.

The new programs are being conducted in cooperation with San Francisco State College in an effort to "meet the requirements of the present and the future" in education, involve the community with the school, and explore ways of improving the learning process.

Currently in operation are the outdoor education "wilderness school," special reading clinic and the student teaching and cooperative teaching program.

The wilderness school, conducted by Reno Taini, director of outdoor education, and four other teachers, consists of "camping trips" where students learn about "nature and life through observing the precious reality of nature and the wilderness."

The Jefferson High educators also hope to instill "the conservation attitude" in students through the program.

A special reading clinic in operation at the school attempts to "teach teachers to teach reading through their subject matter areas" while providing individual attention for students with reading problems.

Experts at the clinic ask the question "why can't he read?" Principal Ed Cereghino said, "then prescribe a treatment."

The student teaching and cooperative teaching program, which serves approximately 30 student teachers from San Francisco State College each semester, is under the direction of the Lab School.

Julianne Jansen, coordinator of the lab school, said "lab" at Jefferson "does not mean an isolated experiment with controlled conditions and explicit data.

"It is a complicated process involving both theory and practice, conceptualization and implementation, brainstorming and doing, planning and carrying out," she said.

"It involves the here and now, but projects into that unknown future when many of our present notions and institutional systems will be changed by computerization, changed social values and goals, and new educational and vocational challenges."

Mrs. Jansen said the present term has been "basically a planning year" at Jefferson, and a number of innovational programs will be introduced in the near future.

"Emphasis this year has been upon creating a climate for learning, promoting individualization and flexibility, establishing centers of inquiry and involving the community," she said.

"We are investigating and using sensitivity training to help the staff become more sensitive to the interests and concerns of students and colleagues, and are investigating moe flexible use of staff, time and space," she said.

Preliminary work has begun on creation of a "learning disability clinic" on the campus "to permit further refinement of our educational diagnosis and development of more meaningful approachess to learning," Cereghino reported.

Poppy touched upon a number of "revolutionary" educational concepts in his speech to Jefferson teachers Friday, and said experimentation of the type now being conducted at the school is necessary, though there are some hazards.

"The thing that frightens humanists in the field of education is control," he said. "They don't want people salivating at the sound of a bell."

Poppy advocates a "happy marriage of the humanist and the technologist" in education.

Areas such as sensual and emotional development have been neglected in the past, he said, as our education system concentrated upon invention and practical skills exclusively.

Murphy noted that the emphasis in traditional schools in the past has been upon "improving the means of transferring traditional knowledge."

What is needed now, he said, is expansion into other areas of learning, concentration upon the so-called "new domain."

"Subjecting oneself to an academic discipline involves "turning off" some feelings and emotions," he contends.

"One major factor in the current student rebellion is a feeling among students that they are being cheated out of certain aspects of their existence," he said.

At the Esalen Institute, such innovative teaching methods as psycho-drama, encounter groups, psychoanalysis and sensitivity training are being used in attempts to explore "the new domain," Murphy said.

"We are attempting to bring 'mind expansion' into the classroom," he said.

Other speakers participating in the program Friday were Rudi Tretten, assistnat principal for guidance at Jefferson, and William Crane, reading clinician at the school.

Finds Self Free Near Daly City

The Federal Bureau of Investigation Tuesday took over an investigation of the story of Jerry Wayne Matthiesen, a 20-year-old student from the State of Washington, who told local authorities he was dumped on San Bruno Mountain Sunday night after being kidnapped from the parking lot of Centralia College, Wash., and held four days by two men and a woman.

Local authorities were frankly dubious of Matthiesen's tale of being chloroformed and placed in the trunk of a car after being kidnaped Thursday.

"I don't buy his story," Detective Les Bastedo of the Daly City police department declared flatly. "There are just too many holes in it. How could he spend four days in a car with his hands and feet tied and have no bruises or abrasions to show for it? Also he was bone dry when we saw him, yet it had been raining steadily here."

Assistant Sheriff Eugene E. Stewart was also inclined to take a hands-off attitude toward the youth's story of terror this morning.

"The FBI are checking Centralia authorities," Stewart said. "Frankly, they are a great deal more interested than I am.

ONE D.C. BLOCK

Compromise OK'd On Cabrillo Route

Residents of the 700 block of St. Francis Boulevard in Daly City have accepted a compromise proposal from the city and the Division of Highways on use of the street as a temporary highway route, a neighborhood spokesman indicated today.

Mrs. Joyce Hutchens, of 722 St. Francis, said a proposal put forward by City Manager Ed Frank, Public Works Director Art Reschke and Al Simmons, district traffic engineer for the Division of Highways, at a study session Monday "appears to be a livable arrangement."

Under the new proposal, only three lanes will be open to traffic in the 700 block of St. Francis, two southbound and one northbound.

Traffic in the right hand, northbound lane will be forced to make a right turn onto Serramonte Boulevard, and use the freeway onramp a half-block east.

"This pattern will reduce traffic on St. Francis Boulevard by 25 per cent from the originally projected average daily figure of 13,500," Frank said.

It will also allow the retention of parking in front of homes on the block.

The state has also agreed to install temporary traffic signals at the intersection of St. Francis and Serramonte Boulevard "within 45 to 60 days," and the city will install "zebra" crosswalks at the intersection.

In addition, the Division of Highways has agreed to construct sidewalks on both sides of St. Francis within the right-of-way for pedestrian safety.

The state is unwilling to "abandon or relocate the route" as originally requested by neighborhood residents, Frank said, because of the present investment in the St. Francis Boulevard project.

Approximately $95,000 has been invested in the connection, according to highway division spokesmen, $70,000 for the tem-

Slides Close Cabrillo On The Coastside

Cabrillo Highway on the San Mateo County coast remained closed Tuesday because of damage which occured to the roadway during a rock and mud slide Sunday afternoon.

A Division of Highways spokesman said officials were unable to reopen the road as planned Monday afternoon because of pavement damage discovered when the slide material was removed.

The roadway is being repaired, and then was expected to be open to traffic sometime late Tuesday, according to Bob Halligan, information oficer at the Division of Highways' San Francisco office.

In addition to the damaged and broken pavement, work crews discovered "slippage" had occurred at the outer edge of the road in the slide area, Halligan said.

"This means we will have to cut back into the face of the

Preliminary Rapid Transit Plan OK'd

A "working copy" of a rapid transit plan for San Mateo County was approved on Monday by the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority.

West Bay directors authorized the printing of 1,500 copies of the proposal and General Manager John C. Lilly said they will be distributed this week to city councilmen, chambers of commerce and other organizations.

Lilly proposed printing another 15,000 copies for wider distribution next week. The idea was opposed, however, by Chairman William R. Lawson, who said he feared that if that many copies of a preliminary plan got out it would be difficult to change the proposal at a later date if changes are desired.

Member James V. Fitzgerald took an opposite position, however, and said that the tentative plan should get as wide a distribution as possible. Fitzgerald said he felt that the public should get as much information as possible prior to public hearings to be held next month.

It was finally agreed that a special meeting of the board will be held at 3 p.m. next Monday to discuss the possibility of distributing summaries of the preliminary plan to all homes.

As things stand now, three public hearings will be held in the week of March 17, after which the final master transit plan will be adopted. It is that plan that is to be the subject of a county-wide election June 10. Then, if a majority of voters approve the plan, a second election will be scheduled to implement the plan and commit the financing.

The schedule could change, however, if the Authority decides it needs another six-month extension to get its job done and the Legislature is willing to grant more time.

The West Bay board has asked that a bill be introduced in Sacramento just in case an extension is deemed necessary. In the meantime the Authority is proceeding on the old schedule, which will put it out of business June 30 unless a master plan has been approved by the electorate by that time.

In general terms the plan calls for extension of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District line from Daly City to International Airport and the eventual extension of that system or some other transit form from San Bruno to Santa Clara County.

A county-wide system of feeder and express bus lines would be tied into the rail system.

Mystery In San Bruno Man's Death

Authorities are attempting to learn how a 74-year-old San Bruno gunshop owner received massive head injuries that led to his death early today in the intensive care unit of Peninsula Hospital.

Orville Spork, who ran the Peninsula Gun Shop in a shed behind his home at 290 East Avenue for some 30 years, was found unconscious and bleeding heavily as he lay on the kitchen floor, yesterday.

Spork was considered one of the finest gunsmiths in the West.

San Bruno police chief Russell Cunningham said a customer and friend found Spork at 5:20 p.m.

Colma Creek Sand Removal Project

Councilmen in South San Francisco approved an arrangement for the removal of sand and silt dredged from Colma Creek Monday.

The city entered into an agreement with contractor John Case for the removal of sand piled along the creek banks, and agreed to pay half the cost for operating a loader to be used in the projectm

The city will pay approximately $15 per hour toward the cost of operating the loader, and Case will bear all other expenses involved in removing the sand.

Public Works Director Louis Goss estimated the cost to the city for the entire sand removal project will be "less than $750."

In the past, residents have removed the sand dredged from the creek at no cost to the city, but Goss pointed out there is "considerably more material" this year than in the past.

PRIORITY RESPONSE

Saturation Patrol, Stacking Of Calls Successful in D.C.

By WILL E. THOMAS

"Stacking," a term used to describe all those airplanes waiting to land at all those airports, now has a place in law enforcement.

The police in Daly City, short-handed in a growing community, are using the "stacking" concept, toegther with another descriptive word, "saturation," to overcome the criminal odds that are against them.

In Daly City, "stacking" refers to the practice of delaying certain types of calls received by the police department, whose dispatcher then funnels them out to patrolmen for response on a priority basis.

Though he says "We are losing the war!" Capt. David Hansen explains that Daly City's police department is attempting to make the greatest possible use of its manpower.

Daly City is taking a more positive, offensive stand against the crime that is increasing throughout the Bay Area.

"Stacking" and "saturation" are two keys in the operation.

The police load is such today that some delay in response to non-emergency, and other specific types of complaints, can be expected, Captain Hansen points out.

This is where "stacking" comes in.

The dispatcher determines the urgency of the situation; whether or not a life or evidence is involved, then parcels out the calls by priority.

"If a man comes home and finds someone has thrown a rock through his window sometime during the day," says Hansen, "there's no urgency. He's the only one there, there's no property to preserve, no life to be saved and no probable suspect to be apprehended right now. This type of call can be delayed until he has an available slot."

But if there is an urgency it could be a small crime and the perpertrator is at the scene — there would be immediate police response.

Describing the dispatcher as "the nerve center of this job," veteran patrolman Stephen Steen emphasizes:

"He receives all the stimulus from the vague public out there. He's the one who listens to all the radios. If he's sensitive and if he perceives what he's actually hearing, he can save a life . . . or he can lose a life. His failure to send a back-up man; his failure to send a man, can cost somebody!"

"He's a chess player," chimes in Capt. Hansen. "He's moving his pieces around, and the city's the chessboard."

But, he can be "and often is second-guessed, and properly so, by the sergeant in the street or the captain at the station," points out Hansen.

Quite a responsibility.

"There is someone, someplace, who has to make a decision," Capt. Hansen muses.

"There's not time," he adds, "to sit back and form a group or a committee. He has to see, he has to hear and he has to act now. The thing about the busi-

SSF Joins Drive to Aid CSM Needy

Mayor Frank Bertucelli issued a proclamation naming the first week in March "CSM Community Fund Campaign Week" in South San Francisco Monday.

The proclamation "commends to the citizens the necessity of a generous contribution" to the fund, which is being raised to support the College Readiness Program at the college.

Mayor Bertucelli said the city's goal in the fund drive is "at least $8,000, and hopefully more."

Community leaders throughout San Mateo County are working to raise $105,000 to continue the CSM readiness program, which has been threatened by a shortage of funds.

Saturation Patrol, Stacking Of Calls Successful in D.C.

ness is that the biggest decisions — the most momentous decisions — are made at the lowest working level."

Thus, the dispatcher determines which calls do not require immediate reaction.

They are "stacked," says Hansen, "something like stacking the airplanes at the airport."

He explains "There are so many planes coming in they put them in their normal pattern of arrival for action, unless there's some emergency involved. If a plane's got an engine on fire, he comes in and out."

In police work, if there's some emergency — "a medical emergency or hazard emergency" — the call will not be stacked either.

Hansen Hansen described stacking best as "making a date with the public."

While some citizens will insist upon immediate response — and they receive it — Hansen says. "More in the positive vein, the person will say, 'I was going to go shopping anyway,' . . . will you be back by ? o'clock? . . . 'Yes, I will' . . . We'll have an officer there at 7. . . ."

Adopting an offshoot of St. Louis police patrol methods, Daly City is using both offensive and defensive units.

The policemen who are on the defensive team answer the calls as they come in and are funneled to them by the dispatcher.

The offensive team — the "saturation" group — keeps on the move, handling only emergency calls.

Only certain areas are saturated at any given period of time, Hansen and Steen explain.

In other words, the worst crime districts last week will be targets of saturation police patrol this week.

The police experience is that the following week's statstics will show a decline in the crime rate because of the deployment there of both "offensive and defensive" units.

How long will the crime figure be lower as a result of the intensive patrol?

Captain Hansen said it will vary. Some districts the decrease will continue for two or more weeks. In one or two of the more troublesome districts the rate will climb as soon as a week after the saturation group leaves.

"We call it saturation," Hansen says, "because we pick out the area that the previous week's statistics have told us is being hit hard by the criminal element, the burglars, the car thieves, the sneaks."

Steen describes the patrolman assigned to saturation as "aggressive, not waiting for something to come by him."

The saturated patrol of a given area of the city means the criminal cannot rely on a pattern:

"The criminal says, 'I've seen the police car, I won't see it again for another five minutes,' but he could turn around and here's another one coming right at him," notes Steen.

Saturation, the two policemen explain, "Allows for a lesser demand of manpower in the patrol area, in the district's assigned men, because now the cases become selective in degree of urgency."

The district policeman might now have what formerly was three or four beats in which to answer calls, "and he answers all of these calls as they're stacked up, in order of priority."

However, the saturation men don't answer these calls, they say, "unless the urgency would indicate necessity and there was no district man to respond."

The 11 Daly City police patrol districts pretty much follow lines drawn for census purposes, Hansen explains, and the patrolman has been spending all his time answering calls — "acting defensively" — in these districts.

"In a sense, then," Steen says, "you could say the saturation group is out there doubling and tripling patrol."

He reminds, "They are out there actually only to patrol, acting in an offensive manner, detecting crime by being able to devote the time to patrol, to observe, to notice irregularities, to notice unusual people, and not be obligated to respond to a call."

"And it has proved quite effectipe," adds Captain Hansen.

Both agree, it might be a way to counter Steen's feeling that "we have become a reacting agency instead of an acting agency."

"The increase in the incidence of important crimes and the increase of insurrection in our neighboring areas, in our own areas, has been a greater drain and a greater demand, so we have only more or less been reacting," Hansen advances.

"There has been no time for active going-forward, crime-preventing, information-producing functions," he says.

Daly City's police department is now short 13 men, at least nine of whom would be patrolmen assigned to patrol, Hansen says.

"We don't have the men — but we do have men at the same time," through stacking and saturation, the police say.

called the police, who found Spork covered with blood.

Police remained mystified over the cause of Spork's injury.

Chief Cunningham said the wound apparently was caused by a blunt instrument, but the authorities have not determined whether the injury was the result of a fall, or if he had been struck by someone.

Robbery was ruled out by most lawmen, inasmuch as Spork's wallet contained about $300 when he was admitted to the hospital.

County coroner's investigator Robert Cawley said Spork suffered a depressed skull fracture.

Evidently it first had been thought Spork's injury had been caused by a gunshot. However, Cawley said X-ray's showed no bullet fragments.

At the same time, Cunningham said he did not know if any weapons had been stolen from Spork's shed, located 25 or 30 feet behind his home.

A friend reportedly told authorities a 12 guage shotgun was missing from a gun rack.

Authorities said they could not find traces of blood in the area between the shed and the house, because of Monday's rain.

According to Chief Cunningham, the corner's office said Spork received his injuries between 3 and 5 p.m. Monday.

His nearest relative reportedly is a brother now en route from Hawaii, police said.

Police said there were two pools of blood, and some splattered, in the shed as well as in the kitchen.

There were no signs of a struggle, in either the house or the shed, a police spokesman said.

Spork, whose shop was in the middle of a San Bruno residential district east of El Camino Real, lived alone, except for his dog, who was described by a San Bruno resident as "friendly to anyone."

Last Chance In Cake Class

This is the last chance to enroll in the Intermediate Cake Decorating Class under the sponsorship of the Daly City Recreation Department.

Starting on Tuesday, February 18, this class will meet at the Arts and Crafts Center located at 101 Peoria from 7:30-9 p.m. Adults interested in this class should have already completed a class in basic techniques.

Class content will include fancy cake decorating, sugar molding, marzipan, and seasonal projects.

cliff and widen the road in that direction," he said.

However, the widening project can be undertaken after the road is open to traffic, according to the information officer.

A major traffic jam occurred on both sides on Devil's Slide after the road was closed Sunday during peak traffic hours.

Tons of dirt and rock crashed to the roadway only minutes after California Highway Patrol men stopped traffic on the road,

Mrs. Hutchens and Mrs. Mary Meschi, representing owners of the 19 homes in the block, protested the proposed use of their street as an interim route for Cabrillo Highway last week, and suggested that an alternate route be chosen "in an area where it would not create a hazard for children."

The street will be used until the remaining one-half mile stretch of Cabrillo Freeway and the interchange at Skyline Boulevard are completed.

This project is expected to take at least three years, and "probably longer," according to Mrs. Hutchens.

Most residents of the block were present at the Monday night study session. With them they brought 19 children "to emphasize the problem we face," Mrs. Hutchens said.

After reaching agreement on the compromise arrangement, the residents and city officials agreed to join forces to press for early approval of funds for completing the freeway project "to eliminate the problem completely."

Upon taking over the block of St. Francis for highway use, the state will relinquish control of Alemany Boulevard, the former temporary Cabrillo Highway route through the city.

The young college sophomore, who flew home to his father in Olympia, Wash., yesterday was still sticking to his story, however. Matthiesen claimed he knew the kidnapers, who, he reported, had been blackmailing for six months for sums of $75 to $200 a month.

Matthiesen reported the kidnappers told him they were going to demand $50,000 ransome from his father. He told officers he was unconscious when finally released, and after regaining consciousness telephoned police from a private home. He spent the night on a bed in the Daly City police department after telling officers his tale.

Although Bastedo said, "I don't think his father believed him, either," the boy's father, an essembly line worker at a container plant, told Daly City police he received a telephone call demanding $50,000 for the release of his son.

$137 Million County Open Space Acquisition Program Is Approved

A $137 million park and open space acquisition program for San Mateo County was approved Thursday by the County Planning Commission.

Where the money is to come from, however, and how property owners on the Coastside are to be saved from financial disaster if the program is carried out, are matters for the County Board of Supervisors to decide, the planners said.

"Our job is easy," Chairman Robert Levy commented as the commission endorsed the plan developed by the Regional Planning Committee over a three-year period.

In recommending to the county board that the RPC acquisition program be incorporated into the county master plan, the commission urged the supervisors to "find some solution to alleviate tax problems on the Coastside.

The problem was described forcefully by Robert W. Bickmore, superintendent of the La Honda-Pescadero Unified School District, who said the district may have to cut services if much more land is taken off of the tax roll for public purposes.

Bickmore said the district lost between $30,000 and $40,000 in taxes last year because of property taken from the rolls for parks, roads and other public purposes. Another such year, he told the commission, would wipe out the district's reserve funds.

Most of the lands recommended for acquisition under the RPC program are on the Coastside.

Bickmore said he personally favors the open space concept as embodied in the RPC report but insisted that something must be done to help the overburdened taxpayers who have to take up the slack for losses in assessed valuation.

Bickmore acknowledged claims that the existence of the parks and open areas would tend to increase the value of nearby privately-owned properties but said that other, short-term solutions are needed. He said his rural district already has the highest tax rate in the county and that the rate cannot go any higher. The district is the only one in the county to actually show a decrease in assessed valuation during the past 20 years, Bickmore told the planners.

Commissioner Robert McCahon said he knows that district trustees are not opposed to the open space concept but pointed out that they are "pledged of the education of our children." He demanded that the "whole problem" be looked at, not just the problem of parks and open space.

Mrs. Claira Dedrick, representing the Sierra Club, suggested some sort of in lieu tax program could be devised to compensate local districts for tax losses under the RPC plan.

Others who spoke in favor of the RPC proposal included Mrs. Marcella Jacobson of the Council for Governmental Responsibility, Mrs. William Iverson of the League of Women Voters and Norman McKee of the Committee For Green Foothills. Mrs. Florence McKenzie of the Save the Scenic Coast Committee urged that Green Valley near Montara be deleted from the RPC plan.

"On first thought," McKee told the commission, "the cost of securing the lands outlined in this plan may seem beyond reach. However, the people of San Mateo County must face the realities of rising land costs and pressures for development can actually save money in the long run by avoiding the kind of urban sprawl that requires costly extensions of public utilities and services."

Principal Denies Woman's Tale About High Probation Figure

The principal of Crestmoor High School in San Bruno has denied a San Bruno woman's claim that "it is a known fact that 40 per cent of the kids at Crestmoor are on probation."

George Kristovich called the allegation at last week's San Bruno City Council meeting "so far from the truth that it's ridiculous."

Kristovich took exception to the claim of Mrs. Sylvia Ottman of 2190 Rollingwood Drive, San Bruno.

The woman also exclaimed to councilman during discussion of a proposed San Bruno teen center that 165 San Bruno youths were booked into Hillcrest Juvenile Center in Belmont last year.

Mrs. Ottman was taking exception to council action to delay consideration of municipal financing of a center for teenagers until the city's budget is discussed.

Kristovich, who said he "would take exception" to the "40 per cent" comment by Mrs. Ottman, explained that only a "minute" number of students frim the 1500-pupil student body at Crestmoor are on probation.

He said he was going to further look into Mrs. Ottman's allegation.

During the hour-long discussion on the teen center, Mrs. Ottman objected to waiting until budget time to ponder the subject further.

She, and others in the audience in San Bruno, urged the council act now.

SSF Home for Aged Approved, But a Colma Request Rejected

County planners Wednesday approved a permit for an old folks home in a residential district of South San Francisco but rejected, for the time being, plans for a 53-bed convalescent hospital in unincorporated Colma.

Approved by the Planning Commission was a use permit for a home for 15 ambulatory aged guests at 201 Alta Vista Drive in the Country Club Park section of South San Francisco.

A protest petition, bearing the signatures of 12 neighbors, was submitted by Oliver Adams, 199 Alta Vista, who asserted that the proposed use is contrary to restrictive covenants, would reduce porperty values in the neighborhood and would establish a precedent for other "non-residential" uses.

Commission Chairman Robert Levy declared that the use is not only permitted but is desirable in single-family residential areas. The question concerning deed restrictions, he said, is a matter for the courts to decide. He pointed out that the use permit is good for only one year at a time and that the owners, Eugene Wells and Charles Gonzales, will not be permitted to change the exterior of the existing house to make it look like anything other than a single-family home.

Mrs. Esther Quist of the Health and Welfare Department said there is a critical need for such homes in the northern part of the country.

Plans for the structure include an eight-bedroom addition to the rear of the house, making a total of 10. There will be parking spaces for 16 cars.

The South San Francisco Planning Department sent word that it had no objection. The site is just outside the city limits.

Not granted by the commission was a permit for a two-story convalescent home on Annie Street adjoining Broadmoor sought by Mrs. Kathleen LePage.

"This changes the character of the entire neighborhood," Levy said.

"It would improve the neighborhood," Mrs. LePage replied.

Real estate men Ricco Lagomarsino, representing the applicants, said land in that area has become too expensive for single-family homes, for which it is zoned. No new homes have been built in the district in the past 10 years, he said.

The permit was not denied by the commission, but consideration was continued until April 23. In the meantime, the staff is to survey the area and recommend whether or not general zoning changes should be made. The opinion of Daly City officials is also to be sought.

Spring Art Classes Still Open in D.C.

There is still time to register in the Spring Art Classes offered by the Daly City Recreation Department.

Under the experienced instruction of John Dominge, a class in mixed media will include instruction in watercolors, pastels, pen-ink, and acrylics. Students need not have had prior instruction in any media.

This 10-week session will begin on Thursday, February 20 through May 1 from 7-10 p.m. All classes will be held at the Arts and Crafts Center located at 101 Peoria. An instruction fee of $15 per student is required, and students are asked to furnish their own materials.

Two additional classes under the instruction of Mrs. Carol Law Amirkhanian will begin on Tuesday, February 18 through April 29. A "challenging" class in oils will cover beginning and intermediate techniques. This class is also held at the Arts and Crafts Center from 10-12:30 noon. There is an instruction fee of $15.

Sketching will be held from 1:30-3:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and will offer beginning and intermediate students fascinating experiences in several media. There is an instruction fee of $12 for the 10 classes.

All classes are limited in size. One may register now by sending name, address, phone, and registration fee to the Daly City Recreation Department at 134 Hillside Boulevard.

D.C. Program On Reading

The Daly City Recreation Department and the Daly City Public Libraries are happy to announce the start of a new program entitled "Adventures Through Reading." It is open to all; no registration.

"Here is an excellent chance to visit foreign lands and meet hundreds of fascinating people," a spokesman says. This program starts the week of February 10 at the following locations:

Franklin D. Roosevelt School (Multi-use room): Tuesdays 3:45-5 p.m.

Skyline Elementary School (Multi-use room): Thursdays 3:45-5 p.m.

Arts and Crafts Center (101 Peoria): Thursdays 3:45-5 p.m.

D.C. Youth Is Killed

A Daly City youth was hit by a car and killed instantly Friday night while walking across rain-swept Higate Drive, police reported.

David Tascuci, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tascucci, 456 Northaven Drive, was dead upon arrival at Mary's Help Hospital after the accident occured at 8:10 p.m.

The driver ot the vehicle involved, William Francis Larcher, 18, of 40 Ocean Grove Drive, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter, and will be arraigned Monday in North County Municipl Court.

Police said Tascúcci and another youth, Nick Leonoudakis, were walking acros Higate at the intersection with Ridgefield Drive when the accident occured.

Leonoudakis escaped injury.

Larcher was driving south on Higate. After striking the youth, his car continued several hundred feet, then struck a parked vehicle, according to police.

Officers said the accident is still under investigation.

$65 Netted In S.S.F. Holdup

A Utah truck driver was robbed of $65 Tuesday night on a street in the South San Francisco business district, police reported.

Officers said Robert Weed Jr o.f Murray, Utah, was held up by a man carrying a gun and wearing a stocking over his face in the 200 block of Third Lane about 10:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Weed had just left a restaurant in the area when the man approached and demanded his wallet, officers said.

After removing the money from Weeds' wallet, the robber threw the wallet upon the ground, and got into a car with another man, officers said.

The bandit was described as a Caucasian in his late twenties, about six feet all and weighing 200 pounds.

Increase In Bruno Repair

Building permits issued last month in San Bruno totaled $314,695, city officials reported.

Permits issued during January of 1968 totaled $127,052.

Of 25 permits issued last month, 18 were for residential alterations, six for commercial alterations and one for a new apartment building.

School Theft Four Nabbed

Three of four juveniles involved in the burglary Saturday night of the Garnet Robertson Elementary School in Daly City were apprehended in the process of taking musical instruments, police reported today.

Police Lt. Phil LaBruzzo said patrolman Roger Austin caught three in the act of stealing "six or eight" instruments from the Bayshore district school. The fourth was taken into custody on Sunday.

All were sent to Hillcrest juvenile center.

First Western Bank would like to lend you enough money to add on to your home.

$3,000 could do plenty. And with eight years to repay, and payments as low as $47 a month, you can probably afford it.

You wouldn't exactly be throwing your money away, either. Because adding on to your house makes it worth that much more when you sell it.

There's no red tape, no escrow fees, or that sort of thing. We treat it as a simple business deal, like a car loan.

If you really feel ambitious we can lend you any amount up to $7500 for home improvement. If the loan is over $2000, all we charge is $6 per $100 per year.

If you'd like to talk about it, just give us a call and ask for jack.

SSF Pact with County Housing Unit

Members of the South San Francisco Housing Authority board, after considerable prodding from Mayor Frank Bertucelli and other city officials, took the first step toward obtaining additional rent subsidies for the city last week.

At a meeting Wednesday night, members of the five-man board adopted a resolution authorizing their executive director to negotiate an agreement with the San Mateo County Housing Authority "for extension of the leased housing program" to the city.

The agreement negotiated by Executive Director Everett D. Smith will "then be presented to this authority for approval or modification and approval," the resolution states.

South San Francisco councilmen voted to join the county rent subsidy program last October after additional federal funds for use throughout the county were allocated, but the local housing authority did not act upon the matter until Wednesday night.

The housing panel acted to obtain the additional federal funds after Mayor Frank Bertucelli and other council members became interested in the plight of Mrs. Jackie Collum a divorced mother of four children (two of whom are blind) who has been unable to obtain assistance through the local agency.

Councilman Frank Mammini called for a "full investigation" of the city's housing authority, headed by Chairman Ernest Oresti, two weeks ago, noting that the board had not held a meeting in several months.

Mayor Bertucelli "arranged" the Wednesday meeting of housing authority members, who are appointed by the council.

At an earlier meeting with Bertucelli and other city officials on Sunday, Oresti reportedly stated that the delay in obtaining the additional rent subsidies "was the result of a misunderstanding."

City sources quoted Oresti as stating the local group was waiting for the San Mateo County Housing Authority to put forth an offer of additional funds, "and the county housing authority was waiting for the city board to enter a request."

However, officials of the county housing authority offered to provide the additional subsidies shortly after the council voted to authorize the program in October.

The county received an $800,000 grant last August for the rent subsidy program.

Though most of this money has been spent sufficient funds for assisting about 250 additional families is still on hand.

A 'Superior' Award For Stage Band

Westmoor High School's award-winning Stage Band entered the first competition of this school year when they traveled to Tracy recently to participate in the C.M.E.A. Stage Band Festival. They earned a Superior rating and received high praise from the judges for their performance. They were also awarded a superior rating for sight reading.

Nearly forty bands participated in the festival which is sponsored annually by the California Music Educators Association.

Dr. Carrico of the University of Nevada music faculty was one of the judges and as spokesman for the judges commented on the band's performance. He complimented Greg Adams on his trumpet solo and his ability to ad lib.

He praised the high note sax playing by alto sax soloist, Peter Markovich, and suggested to all sax players present that they study and make use of the high register as Peter does.

He referred to Mike Hinton as the "Buddy Rich" on drums and got a special round of applause for the pretty and talented musician, drummer Nancy Kingery who also announced for the band.

High praise for the entire three-man drum section which includes Kenneth Wickham was prominent in the written comments as was a commendation to Jay Wagner, a sophomore, for his fine piano solos. Solos by guitarist, Bill Brown and trumpet Mark Benson contributed to the band's rating.

Howard Loeffler, band director and member of National Association of Jazz Educators, remarked that the Westmoor Stage Band has entered the local competition since its inception and has shown marked improvement over the years.

The next appearance of the Stage Band will be a concert on March 4 featuring the "Big Band Sound." Proceeds will be used to finance a trip to Reno, Nev., later in March when they will enter further competition.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. — Airman James G. Laurel, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Laurel of 104 Csey Drive, South San Francisco, Calif., has been graduated from a U.S. Air Force technical school at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

He was trained as an aircraft mechanic and has been assigned to a unit of the Pacific Air Forces at Clark AB, Philippines.

The airman is a graduate of El Camino High School, attended the College of San Mateo.

'SHORT NOTICE'

McGREGOR MISSILE RANGE, N.M. — Specialist Four Richard C. Ragland, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Ragland, 4 Atlantic Avenue, San Bruno, took part in an Army Air Defense Command "Short Notice Annual Practice" (SNAP), January 5-12 at McGregor Missile Range, N.M.

He is a member of Battery A, 1st Battalion of the 61st Artillery at Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

Participating units are given only 48 hours warning before being airlifted to the range. While at the site, crewmen fire live missiles against radio-controlled aerial targets. The annual testing is designed to keep air defense units in a state of constant readiness to perform their missions.

TOP UNIT AWARD

AGUADILLA, P.R. —Airman First Class Vincent E. Borg, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Borg of 1405 Hillside Blvd., South San Francisco, has been recognized for helping his unit earn the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Airman Borg, a security policeman in the 72nd Security Police Squadron at Ramey AFB, P.R., will wear the distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration.

The unit was cited for meritorious achievement through continuous proficiency and preparedness from July 1967 through June 1968.

The airman is a graduate of South San Francisco High School.

CANNONEER

Army Private Otto P. Villias Jr., 19, whose parents live at 573 Bellevue Avenue, Daly City, is in Germany as a cannoneer with the 24th Infantry Division taking part in the military exercise Reforger I.

The exercise, to be conducted in Europe in February 1969, involves U.S. Army units based in the United States and Europe. It includes about 12,000 Army troops assigned to the 24th Infantry Division, based at Ft. Riley, Kan., and to combat service support units from across the country. These units were flown to Europe in January.

VIET MISSION

VIETNAM — Marine Private First Class Melvin R. Jackson, son of Mrs. Herbert L. Allen of 800 Monte Diablo, San Mateo, is serving with the Second Battalion, Fifth Marine Regiment, First Marine Division in Vietnam.

The primary mission of the battalion is to conduct large scale operations against the enemy.

When not engaged in major operations, Marines of the battalion participated in company and platoon size sweeps through the battalion's area of responsibility in search of enemy infiltrators.

His unit is also engaged in a civic action program designed to assist the Vietnamese people in completing self-help projects, such as the building of wells, culverts, small bridges and schools. Equipment and materials are made available through the Marine Corps Reserve Civic Action Fund.

MARINE PROMOTED

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. — Marine Private First Class David M. Horn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Horn of 1351 Adrian Avenue, San Mateo, was promoted to his present rank upon completion of Basic Infantry Training at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

His promotion was based on time in service and rank, military appearance, and his knowledge of selected military subjects.

At Camp Pendleton, the Basic Infantry Training Company instructs Marines in the specialized handling of combat infantry weapons such as machine guns, mortars, rocket launchers and flame throwers.

Marines who complete the course are assigned a military occupational specialty and then ordered to units of the Fleet Marine Force.

Robber Shot By Driver

A South San Francisco man shot and killed a robber early Wednesday morning in San Francisco, police reported.

Theodore Leonelli, 42, a taxi driver in San Francisco, emptied a small caliber automatic pistol at two men after they robbed him of his watch and about $25 in cash shortly after midnight.

One of the men, Albert Ridley Jr., of 1247 Scott Street, San Francisco, died en route to Mission Hospital after police found him lying unconscious near his residence.

Leonelli told police he picked up the two men shortly after midnight, and when they arrived at their destination, Ridley pulled a revolver and demanded his money.

Leonelli handed over his watch, wallet and cash. Then, as the pair stepped from the cab, he pulled his own pistol from beneath the seat and emptied it at the fleeing men.

Ridley was struck by six bullets, police said.

BRIGHT LIGHTS
BY LLOYD ★ JOHNSON

Tammy Tyler Performs From Fireside Ceiling

Your Bright Lighter has listened to Phil Maita, owner of the Fireside Lounge in San Mateo, "rave" about his "great shows" for many a month, and last week was no exception. "Hey you gotta see this new act!" the "soft voice" of friendly Phil filtered through the phone. "It's the greatest thing to ever brighten the Fireside stage." So figuring one more time viewing the "greatest act in show business" wouldn't hurt any, Yours Truly sauntered in. It's true though, Philip has come up with a super bit of entertainment in the person of Tammy Tyler. Hailing from Toronto, Tammy is a trim five foot, eleven inches and is built to order for her type act. Dancing upside down with her feet pressed against the ceiling, Tammy performs her terpsichorean oddity with ease and skill. During her first performance, the other evening, even boss Phil, who was tending bar, took his eyes off the cash register to watch her highly specialized "Go-Go Girl" act performed in an inverted perpendicular position. Stop in the Fireside and see the "impossible" made possible before your eyes.

If you're in a dancing mood, one of the "IN" places to go is Le Cabaret in Redwood City, near Atherton. Owned by veteran restaurateurs Dan Biagi and Rene Canabou, and Marlo Brunner, Le Cabaret is open seven nights a week featuring piano bar entertainment and complimentary hors d'oeuvres during the cocktail hours (4 p.m. to 8 p.m.), and dancing to the "non-rock" sounds of The Couriers. Celebrating their fourteenth wedding anniversary here recently were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Potter of Hillsborough, who joined friends for an evening of dancing . . . Can't find facilities large enough to accommodate your large party? A. Sabella's restaurant at Fisherman's Wharf can handle up to 450 persons in a single room. In fact, the entire second floor of the restaurant building is devoted to banquet facilities. Rooms are available by the hour for breakfast, lunch and dinner . . . Joe Piccinini, genial host of Oreste's in San Francisco, wishes to remind you that Oreste's is now featuring Champagne Suppers for late diners. Choose from cannelloni, fettuccine, lasagne or tortellini. Includes champagne and coffee.

Dan Biagi

Steve Norton, Director of Sales at the Villa Hotel, points out that the slogan "First with the finest" is not only true, it can now be changed to read, "First with the finest and newest." The fine touch that has always been evident at the Villa Hotel in the W. & J. Sloane furnishings has been beautifully maintained — replacements and all new carpeting, as well as new meeting room facilities. Professional hotel catering at the Villa Hotel took on a new look recently when color coordinated linens, or conventional white, were added along with all-new dishes, crystal and silver. Latest of the newest innovations is the announcement this week that 19-inch color television will be installed in all guest rooms commencing March 15. . . . Dine out tip of the week: Prime ribs as served at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City, desserted with Cherry Cheesecake.

Steve Norton

A RECENT visitor to Rudolfo's, the Palo Alto steakhouse, was a famous medical rarity: Bob McGee, the heart transplant patient at Stanford Hospital, visited with his old friends, the Alfinito brothers. Bob's health is flourishing after the operation performed by famed heart surgeon, Dr. Norman Shumway. Maybe Art Alfinito should have invited Bob to be his guest for a "Hearts and Flowers" dinner on St. Valentine's Day . . . Enrico Romano, who owns and operates Romanos's Italian restaurant at Rockaway Beach in Pacifica, is avid in almost anything he does. His enthusiasm is not only reflected in the way he prepares his pizzas (famed throughout the Bay Area), but in the way he tinkers on racing cars, hunts elk in Montana, and goes out of his way to give his patrons that little extra service . . . Liquor tycoon Henry Berman and his wife hosted a dinner party at Lew Lehr's in San Francisco's Marina for a group of out-of-town friends.

Art Alfinito

It was Tuesday night at Bay Meadows Race Track and rain was coming down in buckets. The fifth race, named for Al King's Concerto Music Agency (he's our local "booker" of talent) was about to run. One of the horses entered was listed as "Rag King." You're right, Al placed a sizable wager, and "Rag King" won. You're right again, King is now enjoying a short period of "Rags to Riches."

Even with the high snow level, Park Avenue Tours continues to roll Greyhound Buses onward to the South Lake Tahoe area. This keeps Barney's Casino and Sahara-Tahoe well-stocked with "playful" guests. The summer months will seem like a gold rush in this area, what with Park Avenue Tours bus and plane accommodations zooming to and from.

Joe's of Hillsdale restaurant in the Hillsdale Shopping Center has the typical Italian decor, with the chef doing the cooking where you may watch its preparation. Specializing in hamburgers on French bread and such Italian favorites as spaghetti, spinach omelettes and scallopine. Counter service is available if preferred, plus a cozy cocktail lounge and banquet facilities.

Cary Davis Proves Finocchio Favorite

Cary Davis, who sings like the late and great Grace Moore and is a look-alike for movie actress Bette Davis, is still wowing the fans at Finocchio's. Davis, who has earned his spot among the top female impersonators, really brings down the house with his version of, "I Think I'm Going Out of My Head." Besides delivering songs with style and verve, Davis' wardrobe is up to the latest mode.

BIRDIE of Russell Lee and the International Explosion, now playing a return engagement at the Hilton Inn Tiger Room, San Francisco International Airport.

"There are many facets of the night club-restaurant world, but the key to success is not to forget the customer. If you bear them in mind, you can't lose," says Luz Garcia, owner of the Sinaloa Mexican Cantina in North Beach. Luz's long-run night club record speaks for itself — she is one of the most durable figures in the night life of San Francisco.

Pacifica Mayor Nick Gust, who operates Nick's and The Moonraker at Rockaway Beach in his "spare hours," reports gleefully that photographs of his restaurants have been taken and will adorn a PGE pamphlet, that will soon be seen by three million people all over the country.

Many of those dining at the Belmont Prime Rib Chuck Wagon stop on their way out to tell host Al Malatesta how much they enjoyed their dinner. Confirmed beefeaters rave about the savory roast prime ribs, carved to order so they always get the exact cut they want.

Saltimbocca A La Romano - Dell'Osso's

When you dine in the Roman Room at Dell'Osso's restaurant in San Mateo, you dine in the finest of atmosphere. Vincent Dell'Osso takes pride in this fact, as well as in the outstanding cuisine he serves. His Saltimbocca Alla Romano, which is rolled veal stuffed with prosciutto and flavored with sage, is superb. All smothered in an exquisite mushroom sauce. Start off your meal with piping hot pastina, then a tossed green salad topped with crab meat and a remarkably - flavorful Roquefort dressing (Vincent's own concoction).

Nippon Kageki-Dan To Make U.S. Debut

The renowned all-girl Nippon Kageki-Dan dance revue company of 75 from Osaka will appear in the company's U.S. debut at the new Kabuki Theater-Restaurant opening March 1 in San Francisco's Japanese Cultural and Trade Center. In existence for almost 50 years, the troup is widely known for its SRO performances at its home theater, the Daigeki, in Osaki, before local audiences and visitors to Japan. Now it becomes the first Japanese performing troup to establish a permanent home abroad. Reserved seating in the new Kabuki Theater-Restaurant will be available for all performances at tables, with continuous food and beverage service in orchestra, balcony and Japanese private dining room locations.

Look for some very interesting news about the Villa Chartier to appear in Bright Lights in the very near future. New faces, new places, and such.

A group from the San Mateo Union High School District, hosted by Mrs. Solette, will hold a luncheon party in the banquet room of Bruno's in downtown San Mateo on Thursday, February 20. As a reminder: Chef Bruno Fava arranges special menus and prices for large party occasions.

Rod McKuen Visits Doros

Doros in San Francisco was the scene of a group of notables dining: Rod McKuen, a "Mr. Big" of show biz; Michael Laughlin, producer of the hit movie "Joanna;" Paul Spier, publisher of the Official Amusement Guide, and his mother. All were celebrating their joint birthdays.

This is the return-to-work weekend for Frank and Fannie Torres. So be on hand at their Montara Beach Hotel restaurant to welcome them back.

Shirt Tail Restaurant Is Experienced In Luxury Dining

The Shirt Tail, a new luxury restaurant in South Palo Alto, takes its name from an early Nevada gold mine. Specializing in quality beef and seafood dishes, the 300 seat restaurant is open seven days a week serving both luncheon and dinner. Dining facilities include a large dining room overlooking a tropical garden and private banquet space for 50 persons. Durby Adkins, handsome manager of this well-appointed restaurant, invites you to visit the unusual sunken cocktail lounge, where Bob Lucas entertains nightly at the pianobar. A huge rock fireplace adds cheer and warmth to the coziness.

Bill Roser will take over the management of Stickney's restaurant in San Mateo. Roser's background in this line of endeavor includes many prominent restaurants on the West Coast. Robert Hoffmeyer, former manager here, is leaving our fair city to go to the southland, and Bright Lights wishes him the best in his new business undertaking.

Setback On Road Program

Year's Delay Over Culvert

South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucelli has responded to the county's "ultimatum" on a number of joint road projects in the city by instructing his staff to "make plans to go it alone" in constructing portions of the improvements.

Supervisors Tuesday drafted a letter to the city setting down anew their conditions for proceeding with the long-pending Westborough Boulevard Extension project.

Upon hearing of the letter, Bertucelli said it represents "a reversion to their original position, which brought about the impasse in the first place."

In the letter, supervisors stipulated that the county will maintain the 12-mile Greek culvert to be built in connection with the road project "only in the unincorporated area, and not in the city."

$1 Million Project

The question of which jurisdiction will assume responsibility for the section of drainage culvert inside the city limits has been the key obstacle to agreement on the $1 million road project, which has already been delayed for at least one year.

County officials have steadfastly refused to assume responsibility for the drainage facility, stating that it would "set a precedent" in county policy on such maters, and "upset the Colma Creek Flood Zone plan."

South San Francisco officials insist the drain is rightfully a county responsibility, and have expressed fears the city will become liable for flood damage which might result from the project.

Asks Compromise

Supervisor James Fitzgerald suggested several weeks ago that the county might assume responsibility for the drain "for a limited period of time, perhaps three years," as a compromise arrangement to clear the way for development of the road.

However, in approving the "ultimatum" letter Tuesday, supervisors stated they were "rescinding all prior committments of the county" in the matter.

They also said funds set aside for the project will be withdrawn and "transferred to other worthy projects" if the city finds the county's terms for an agreement unacceptable.

In addition to setting down their "hard line" on the Westborough Boulevard Extension, supervisors postponed action on another city-county project, the proposed widening of South Airport Boulevard between San Bruno Avenue and the intersection of San Mateo Avenue and Produce Street.

This project, which includes reconstruction of an overpass "bridge" in the city, was scheduled for construction on a "50-50" basis at a cost of approximately $204,000.

Supervisor Fitzgerald said Tuesday he wanted to conduct a "field trip" before proceeding with the project, and gave no indication when it would be taken up again.

Suggests Bridge Now

Mayor Bertucelli, at a study meeting Wednesday, instructed Public Works Director Louis Goss to "investigate the possibility of the city's proceeding with the bridge, and leaving the road to the county."

The bridge will cost an estimated $80,000.

Bertucelli also asked staff members to "determine if the city can use the funds set aside for the Westborough Boulevard Extension to complete the upper portions of the road."

"Since the county won't advance the funds, we will get one job done at a time," the mayor said.

$1300 School Theft Told

Burglars hit the Belle Air Elementary School, San Bruno, for $1300 worth of office machinery while students and teachers observed Lincoln's birthday.

San Bruno police said an office window was smashed and the burglars reached inside and unlocked a door.

Taken were an adding machine, a copying machine, two typewriters and an audiometer—plus $1 in coin from the petty cash box.

TERRA NOVA TOPICS . . .

By Alice Reichert

Pretty, blonde Birgit Hagberg from Gothenburg, Sweden currently residing with the Earl Lake family of Visalia, spent Exchange Week, February 8-15, with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Dryden, 1219 Shella Lane in Pacifica, their son Lanny, a TN senior, and Anne, TN junior and assistant news editor for Tiger Tales Magazine.

Birgit attended special activities at both Terra Nova and Oceana during her stay. The Drydens also held an informal reception for her at their home, February 9 from 3 to 6 p.m.

Born in Stockholm, Miss Hagberg moved to Gothenberg at age 11, where she now calls her home.

The comparison between Swedish and American school systems is hard to make, Birgit says. In Sweden, school is compulsory through ninth grade, and a secondary school, the gymnasium is optional. Birgit has completed her first year in the gymnasium.

Birgit is one of 300 foreign exchange students from 59 countries. To take part in this American Field Service program, Birgit was required to have good grades, many interests, and to know the English language. She has taken English for seven years, and plans to continue her education upon her return to Sweden next year.

Terra Nova's quarterly magazine, Tiger Tales, is still on sale in several Pacifica stores. Featured are The Lonely People, a look at the world on teen homosexual; Realty and Love, the youth revival to find Jesus; Other Deadly Habits, the dangers of smoking and drinking.

Daly City Storytelling

The Daly City Recreation Department and Daly City Public Libraries announced the introduction of a new storytelling program for elementary school children.

Story sessions will be held each week under the guidance of library personnel, starting the week of February 10.

There is no registration necessary.

Sessions will be held at Franklin Roosevelt School, Tuesdays, 3:45-5 p.m.; Skyline Elementary School, Thursdays, 3:45-5 p.m.; Arts and Crafts Center, Thursdays, 3:45-5 p.m.

Breakfast By Westmoor PTA

The Westmoor High School P-TA will serve a pancake breakfast in the school's cafeteria March 2, with proceeds to benefit the various projects supported by the unit.

Pancakes, sausage, orange juice, coffee and milk will be served.

Cost of the breakfast will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Breakfast will be served between 8 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

South City Pair Engaged to Marry

Announced at a recent family dinner was the engagement of Pia Maria Menicucci, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gjilio Menicucci of South San Francisco, and David Albert Sciandri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dante Sciandri also of South San Francisco. The couple will be wed in January of next year at All Souls Church in that city.

Pia Maria attended South San Francisco High School and received her A.A. in business administration from the College of San Mateo. She is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Pietro Selmi and the cousin of Sandy Selmi, all of South San Francisco.

David has a sister, Lynda Sciandri, and is the grandson of Mrs. Ernesta Sciondri and Mrs. Anita Degliantoni. Nello Sciandri is his uncle.

David attended Serra High School and will receive his B.A. in business administration next year from the University of San Francisco. He is entering the air force reserve on March 1.

No. 10 Downing Street has been the official residence of Prime Ministers of Englan dsince 1735, says Collier's Encyclopedia.

Concert Pianist To Perform At Terra Nova

Ronald Albert Nail, widely acclaimed concert pianist, will be appearing at an exclusive benefit performance at the Terra Nova High School cafetorium on Saturday, March 1, at 8 p.m.

Raising enough money to send T. N.'s Jazz Stage Band to compete in a national Jazz Band Festival at Reno in the spring is the long-range goal of the benefit concert.

Tickets are attainable by both reservation and at the door, priced $2 for adults and $1 for student's admission.

A Reception open to the public following the concert will be held from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the American Legion Hall in Rockaway Beach. There will be refreshments and musical entertainments provided by Terra Nova's Jazz Stage Band.

Cost of the reception will be $1 donation per person. —

YW Fashion Show Leaders Are Chosen

Co-chairmen of the North San Mateo County YWCA annual spring fashion show luncheon are Mrs. Robert Elliott of Daly City and Mrs. Merle Arlen of San Bruno. Assisting the chairmen will be committee members Mrs. Alfred McGuirk of Daly City and Lana Federico, YWCA modeling instructor, of San Bruno.

"A Carousel of Spring Fashion" will be on March 13, at noon, at the Lazy V Restaurant, 271 El Camino Real, San Bruno.

Colorful, new apparel for spring and summer wear will be shown by the Patio Shop of San Bruno.

Models, from the YWCA membership, are being selected now and will be trained by Lana Federico.

This YWCA special event is open to the public; plan to make your reservations early.

Tickets are available at the YWCA office, 375 South Mayfair, Daly City, and from Mrs. Elliott, 581 Lowell Street, Daly City and Mrs. Arlen, 2146 Crestmoor Drive, San Bruno.

Marriage Vows Recited

Gloria Mazzoncini and Ron Ferrero exchanged their marriage vows at noon today at All Souls Catholic Church in South San Francisco. The Rev. John Petroni officiated.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Mazzoncini of South San Francisco, hosted the reception at the Elks' Club in South San Francisco. The couple will honeymoon in Las Vegas and Disneyland.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Gloria wore a floor-length gown of imported Italian peau de soie and Chantilly lace with seed pearls and aurora borealis. A lace coronet secured her French silk illusion veil, and she carried butterfly orchids and stephanotis.

Her traveling ensemble was a three-piece blue and white knit suit worn with bone accessories.

Rose crepe gowns with pink velvet ribbons were chosen by the attendants who included Barbara Wagner as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Fran Morehouse, Pat Williams, Lynn Mazzoncini, sister of the bride, and Kathy Oresti. They all carried rose and shocking pink carnations.

Ron, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ferrero of Burlingame, asked his brother, Joseph Ferrero, to be his best man. Ushers included Raymond Downs, Paul Mazzoncini, brother of the bride, Charles Hinman and Peter Morales.

Mrs. Mazzoncini took her place in the receiving line in a pale pink dress and coat with matching hat, shoes and bag. Mrs. Ferrero wore a peacock blue ensemble with blue shoes and hat, and both mothers pinned on cymbidiums.

The new matron attended South San Francisco High School and is the sister of Marie Mazzoncini. Her husband studied at Burlingame High School and the College of San Mateo. He also has a sister, Mrs. Charles Hinman.

TO BERMUDA

Many New England birds go to Bermuda for the winter, among them the song sparrow, junco, redstart, palm warbler and blackpoll.

NELL NORTON

(Sugar 'n Spice)

Good morning, good cooks.

Today is Ash Wednesday and the beginning of Lent.

While the more stringent rules are no longer observed, there are still days during the Lenten season when meat is forbidden. Today for example. So it might be wise to start off the column with an idea for dinner.

The first and best idea that crosses one's mind is that it would be grand if one's husband would take the family out to Fisherman's Wharf for dinner. Unfortunately one's husband is not always so amenable to one's wonderful ideas. Oh well.

Second idea: This recipe for sole cooked in a rich sauce of soup and wine.

FILLET OF SOLE

6 slices sole
½ cup lemon juice
4 green onions, chopped fine
4 Tbsp. parsley
1 can cream of mushroom soup
One-third cup white wine
Butter
Salt and Pepper
Parmesan cheese

Marinate the six slices of sole in the one-half cup lemon juice for 15 minutes. Butter a flat casserole and lay the slices of fish flat in it. Combine the four chopped green onions with the four tablespoons chopped parsley and sprinkle over the fish. Fold the slices in half, end to end. Mix together the can of mushroom soup, one-third cup white wine and salt and pepper to taste. Pour over fish. Dot with butter and sprinkle lightly with Parmesan cheese.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 25 minutes.

Not everyone falls under the "no-meat" rule today, so here is a very tasty way to serve chicken. You will see that there are no exact amounts given, it is up to you to divide the chicken into the amount of servings you want. I suggest you use heavy weight foil for the packets.

TROPICAL CHICKEN

One frying chicken, cut into serving pieces
Sliced pineapple
Mandarin oranges
Blanched almonds or Macadamia nuts
Salt and pepper to taste
Just a touch of rosemary and tarragon

Brown the chicken lightly in butter and arrange 2 to 3 pieces (per serving) on double layers of foil and sprinkle with salt and pepper. In the same skillet in which you browned chicken place slices of pineapple and brown lightly. Place a slice of pineapple on top of chicken and next place 5 or 6 Mandarin oranges on top, sprinkle nuts over all and season with rosemary and tarragon. Fold in the tops and seal the packages well. Place in 375-degree oven for 50 minutes.

This is delicious served with chicken flavored rice.

Nothing is more likely to make me want to rush out and throw myself under a passing truck than to find an error in the column. However, after reading last week's I decided to stay away from the wheels in order to print a corrected version today.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN CAKE

3 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
Three-fourths teaspoon salt
1½ cups sugar
Three-fourths cup margarine
3 eggs, unbeaten.
A cup of milk
½ cup unsulfured molasses
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves

Sift together the three cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, and three-fourths teaspoon salt. Cream the one and one-half cups sugar with the three-fourths cup margarine. Beat in the three eggs, one at a time. Add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the cup of milk. Beat batter for 30 seconds.

Pour half the batter into a bowl, into which stir the one-half cup molasses, one and one-half teaspoon cinnamon and the one-half teaspoon cloves.

Grease and lightly flour a cake pan 12x8x2-inches. Drop light and dark batters alternately into pan to make a marbled effect. Bake for 45 minutes in 350-degree oven, or until cake tests done.

BROWN SUGAR FROSTING

½ cup margarine
1 cup brown sugar, packed
Dash of salt
¼ cup milk
One and three-fourths to two cups powdered sugar

Melt the one-half cup butter in saucepan, add the one cup brown sugar and the dash of salt, boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Add the one-fourth cup milk, stir until mixture boils. Remove from heat and cool.

Sift the powdered sugar and add slowly to the cooled mixture, beating as you add, until the frosting is of the right consistency to spread.

Lake Tahoe Honeymoon For Newlywed Couple

Lake Tahoe and Squaw Valley are honeymoon destinations of Loreen Buttelmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Buttelmann of South San Francisco, and George Benjamin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Benjamin of Millbrae.

The couple was married at St. Dunstan's Church in Millbrae and received felicitations at the Lazy V restaurant. White gladioli were used at both places.

Loreen, who was escorted to he altar by her father, wore an ivory peau de soie Empire costume styled along Victorian lines. She added a matching headpiece of roses and carried white baby roses.

Marilyn Buttelmann was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. James Pink, sister of the bridegroom, Sue Rathjen, and Shirley Gilmore. They wore floor length Empire creations in aqua and carried pink baby roses and carnations.

John Burge stood with George as best man, and ushers were Dennis Glenn, John Durey, and Don Rathjen.

The new matron attended South San Francisco High School and the College of San Mateo.

George attended Capuchino High School and the College of San Mateo.

Celebrate 50th Anniversary Date

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Cavagnaro celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a reception at the Brentwood Lodge in South San Francisco.

The party was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright, daughter and son-in-law of the couple; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cavagnaro, son and daughter-in-law, and the couple's eight grandchildren.

The Cavagnaros moved to Daly City before its incorporation, and a native son of California, he has served as a city

Go dramatic in your decorating, Spanish style!
ANTIGUA by Thomasville
The drama of Spanish architecture, the grandeur reminiscent of Spain's treasured antiques! Thomasville has captured them for you in magnificent new bedroom furniture. Note the characteristic Spanish motifs: the weighty shaped blocks of the solid oak drawer fronts; deep-carved mullion doors; the headboard's quatrefoil pattern, recalling the Moorish influence on Spanish design. Veneers and solids are oak in your choice of finishes: Weathered Sage, a continental, greyish tone, and Legendary, deep and mellow, both grey-waxed to a timeless patina; or Avocado, the green accent color decorators so admire. See Antigua! It's furniture you'll be proud to own!

THE WESTMOOR WHIRL

Classes Elect New Officers

Seniors at Westmoor have elected their class officers for the final time.

They are: Mike Milon, president; Dan Montelongo, vice president; Nancy Eichelberger, secretary; and Evelyn LaBlanc, treasurer.

In the most hectic and important of all semesters, the spring of '69 will feature the senior ball, awards assembly, graduation and grad night in Disneyland for the seniors.

Milon will be responsible for the general smooth-run of the semester. Mike was vice president last semester. His extra-curricular activities include cross-country and track.

Dan Montelongo will take his post as vice president. Dan is a novice to school government, but is an avid participant in school athletics. He played lineback and guard for the varsity football team and now coaches girls' powder puff football after school.

Nancy Eichelberger has been voted senior class secretary. This is Nancy's first term as secretary, although she served as treasurer in her freshman and junior years. Nancy has also been an officer of the Girls Athletic Association. Her career choice is elementary education.

Heading the financial details will be reelected treasurer Evelyn LaBlanc. Evelyn will head any fund raising events and try to build up the senior treasury to help finance activities.

HEADING THE SOPHOMORE slate will be Rich Cardera, president; Steve Scaduto, vice president; Rosie Guillen, secretary; and Cinda Ballanesi, treasurer.

Rich, a member of the soph football team, decided to run for president to disprove the premise that athletes aren't capable of handling an office. His main concern right now, he says, is organizing the sophomore class so that they can make a serious bid for the Spirit Trophy.

In this task he will be assisted by vice president Steve Scaduto. Steve is on Westmoor's wrestling team and was also a member of the champion sophomore football team.

Handling of sophomore paper work during the spring semester will be the duty of incumbent secretary Rosie Guillen, while Linda Ballanesi will handle sophomore funds.

Both Rosie and Linda are active in Westmoor's clubs; Rosie a member of Spanish Club and IFC: Linda a participant in Future Teachers of America and IFC.

SELECTING ALL NOVICE officers for the spring semester, the freshman class elected Jaime Ignacio, Janice Davidian, Patti Pardini, and Sharell Korbus. Jaime Ignacio will lead his class as president. Assisting the frosh president is Janice Davidian, vice president.

Secretary, who will take minutes at all class meetings and handle other secretarial duties, is Patti Pardini.

Concluding the list of elected officers for the freshman class, Sharell Korbus will be kept busy taking care of all money affairs.

LEADING THE JUNIOR class in various spring semester activities will be returning president Richard Hartman, vice president Janet Goheen, secretary Lauren Behlow, and secretary Lauren Behlow, and treasurer Jackie Pratt.

Incumbent president Rich Hartman will face the responsibilities of organizing his class for several activities including Spirit Week, a snow trip and the Junior Prom. Assisting in her position of vice president, returnee Janet Goheen is presently in charge of the class snow trip to Squaw Valley, officially scheduled for March.

Paper work for the class will be handled by secretary Lauren Behlow. This will be Lauren's third semester in the position.

Jackie Pratt is a novice to the office of treasurer, but does not lack experience in the financial world, having served as the fund-raising committee chairman for the class.

Jackie, along with Rich, Janet, and Lauren, led the class last semester through such fund-raising activities as candy sales; a dance, and "Junior Variety Day." Scheduled for this semester is a candid-camera showing of high school life around Westmoor, a bottle drive, and candy sales.

FIVE WESTMOOR speech students and their coach, Miss Mary Ann Holden, traveled to Claremont Men's College to compete in the Claremont College Invitational Tournament with 100 other high school speech groups from California, Nevada and Utah.

Jeff Harris, Dave Martinez, Dan Kunst, John Bennett and Christine Sullivan represented Westmoor. John F. Kennedy High School from Richmond and Saint Ignatius were the only two other schools from the Golden Gate Speech Association invited to attend.

THE ROLE of the P-TA in the schools will be depicted in a skit to be performed Thursday by students of the Colma Elementary School under direction of Mrs. Michael Pleich, chairman for the Founders' Day program of the Colma Intermediate and Elementary Schools. Above Karen Pleich portrays the "mother", working in the school library, and receiving books from David McDonell, Roxanne O'Brien, Michelle, Rachel and Chris Pleich. Also to be featured at the 7:30 p.m. meeting is awarding of two Honorary Life Memberships by Mrs. Walter Letcavage. (Post Photo)

THE WINNER — Student speaker contestant Anita Olsen receives handshake from her speech instructor, Ed Brownstone, of Jefferson High School in Daly City following her victory in contest sponsored last week by the Daly City Host Lions Club. Theme this year was "Youth and Its Problems Today." (Joseph's Photography)

Daly City's C.I.T.Y. Unit Sets Meet

The Daly City Community Interaction Thru You (C.I.T.Y.) human relations organization will meet February 20, at 8 p.m., in the Lincoln Park clubhouse, with Mrs. Charlesetta Alston, Director of the Adult Literacy Center of San Francisco, to be the speaker.

C.I.T.Y. recently contributed $25 to James Ramsey, president of the Society of Black Culture, Serramonte High School, to assist the youth organization treasury.

Mrs. Alston has established an innovative program that has assisted many people to go on to higher education and better employment.

References are made to the center through the employment center, the health and welfare department, and other agencies.

A membership campaign is underway. Chairmen are Mrs. E. MacGuire and Mrs. M. Lawrence.

Students Vie In Skylions Speech Event

The SkyLions of Daly City will be holding their first annual Student Speakers Contest this month.

Chairman of the event is Lion George Grosser. While this is the first contest for the Lions Club of District Four, which includes all of California and Nevada.

"The Hopes and Fears of Today's Youth," is the subject of the Student Speakers' contest and its purpose is to provide an opportunity for competitive public speaking amoung students on a subject of vital interest to the contestants, and to the American public, and to stimulate self-expression and independent thinking. Each participating student must write and present his own speech.

The contest is open to young people who are presently enrolled in high school, and who have not reached the age of 21 years. The winner of the SkyLions event will go on to compete at a later date in a Zone Level contest, with winners from the other club in the zone. The next step is a Region contest, then SubDistrict, and Distrtc. The final winner at the District Four Level will receive a $1,500 scholarship.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By DONALD C. WAITE

ADD A LITTLE SPICE!

It's a well-known fact that many women, when they feel a little blue, go out and buy a perky hat, or a new dress or a pair of shoes and it actually makes them feel better — temporarily.

But there's another and more permanent way to chase away the blues and brighten your outlook — along with that of your entire family — and add a little spice to your way of life.

Go out and treat yourself to a new living room chair or bedroom chair, or a new picture on the wall. Not just an ordinary chair or just another picture. Study your room and figure out the one color that is most needed to add life and lustre — vermillion, bright yellow, deep purple, melon, pumpkin, magenta — or whatever is best — and then buy the right chair in the right color.

The same thing goes for the picture. It may be an abstract or impressionist, a glowing sunset or a field of daisies as long as it is something you love and is just right for the spot where you will use it.

Do you need some throw cushions on your sofa? These cushions are not very useful but their decorative purpose adds spice to the room; and don't hesitate to mix many of the colors of the rainbow. Make them sing!

If you want to add spice to your home and your way of life, come into our shop. We have lots of spicy decorating ideas.

VANDALISM: Open Sore on Society's Backside

By GEORGE GOLDING

ASKING YOURSELF what to do about vandalism, is like asking what to do about rape, when you're the victim.

There are at least three answers in both situations: Fight back, submit, or protect yourself the best you can before submitting.

In case of school vandalism, officials have used, and are using, all three approaches.

Insurance, for instance, is a big item in district budgets.

The General Adjustment Bureau, Redwood City, which handles insurance claims for San Mateo City Schools, advises that the District carries insurance against "everything except broken glass, with $1,000 deductible per loss.

"This covers all the basic perils, windstorm, riot, explosion, aircraft and vehicular damage, smoke, fire, water, and extended vandalism."

Parents Must Pay

"This kind of insurance is now prevalent in districts which before last year did not even know what vandalism was."

Under state law, parents are fully responsible for damage to schools, up to $500 worth. Beyond this, Districts have the option of suing for the additional loss.

(In San Mateo City, there has recently been some debate over whether to adopt a policy of always suing in such cases, or whether to not adopt the policy and act as indicated in each particular incident.)

Most districts find that they can collect from the parents in perhaps 70 per cent of all cases of vandalism in which the damagers are caught.

Often, the children themselves are required to work off the cost of the damage.

This is one manner of fighting back, of deciding that pillage may be inevitable but will not be submitted to without a fight.

Another manner is the installation of burglar alarms, a method found "too expensive" in some areas, and very satisfactory in others.

Frank Greenwood, Superintendent of Jefferson Elementary, said his district is gradually replacing broken glass with "plexiglas" which does not shatter.

"What we have also done is put burglar alarms in four buildings. This appeared to have reduced vandalism considerably. The board has just authorized installation at two more schools.

"Recreation programs on the school sites tend to reduce vandalism, too."

Richard R. Curren, English teacher at Valley Forge High School, Parma, Ohio, wrote for "Today's Education," December, 1968, that "alarm systems are necessary for public protection."

"Before 1965, Parma's educators didn't feel this way. Few of them believed that vandalism could strike this contented community of 100,000 people." Annual losses, he said, had never exceeded $300 per year

Suddenly, during one weekend, three schools were extensively damaged, and school officials faced a new problem:

"How to protect a $35,000,000 public investment?"

Parma, he said, has installed radar alarm systems, hired roving patrols, receives extra police cooperation, requires custodians to check and close every window every night, demands daily reports of expected after-school activity and of any suspicious persons or activity.

In Baltimore, schools use plastic windows, window guards, fencing, outside lighting, alarm systems, design schools with reduced window areas, clean playgrounds with power sweepers to remove rocks which might be thrown through glass.

San Mateo City Schools have found some of the same solutions a help, plastic windows for instance, but so far, nothing has halted the increasing tide.

Before deciding that rape and pillage are inevitable, however, there is on more approach.

Paul H. Hoerlen, principal of Columbia Elementary School, Seattle, describes it:

"Who are the people involved in these acts of vandalism? Most are youths between 11 to 15 years of age who are low achievers in school and who may have a history of delinquent behavior. It seems clear that efforts of school districts to reach the low achiever, the eventual dropout who finds it extremely difficult to succeed as an adult, must be intensified, since a multiplicity of social ills, not just vandalism, result from the frustration these individuals feel."

The key word is "individual."

Each student must be reached, his educational problems solved so that he will not build the frustration that boils out into vandalism.

Educators themselves agree this is the single alternative to fences, burglar alarms, and barred windows.

SCHOOL VANDALISM is an open sore on the backside of society, a bursting boil on the seat of learning.

It is a very expensive infection.

In San Mateo City Elementary School District alone, damage in the 5½ months between July 1, 1968, and Dec. 16, 1968, amounted to $32,601.50.

Of this total, $17,000 worth was covered by insurance. (Because school vandalism is so common, insurance companies frequently insist on policies with $1,000 deductible clauses.)

The remaining $15,001.50 worth of damage was done in daily dribs and drabs, $4,200 worth of broken windows and skylights, $3,700 in wages for repairmen, $3,500 for outside contractors, $1,000 in replacement of stolen keys and broken or plugged locks, $500 worth of uprooted trees and bushes at Borel, Laurel, and Turnbull schools, $450 worth of employe time to paint defaced walls and partitions, $350 worth of damage of cyclone fencing and gates, $300 worth of picnic tables and benches burned or broken.

The damage included grates and drain covers stolen or broken, drinking fountains and toilet bowls and urinals broken with bats and cherry bombs, fire alarm systems ruined, roofs damaged, time clocks wrecked, 20 switch panels ruined, 18 cases of illegal entry.

The listings above did not include the two really big-time items of damage, $10,000 worth or arson in a portable classroom at Turnbull, and $7,000 worth of arson in the teacher's lunge at Turnbull.

Next Year

This year it was Turnbull, last year it was Bayside. Next year?

"This is one problem that crosses social and ethnic lines," says Dr. David Schwartz, county psychiatrist at Hillcrest.

It occurs in Pacifica, East Palo Alto, Woodside, Atherton, Hillsborough, Burlingame, South San Francisco.

It has cost the taxpayers of Jefferson Elementary School District over $100,000 in a single school year in 1960 when two schools were burned, and averages around $30,000 per year to the district's 21 buildings.

A one-night rampage in East Palo Alto cost that district's taxpayers $10,000.

School destruction at Pacifica hit such a peak a year ago, that it became a problem for city government to provide enough police to patrol the schools. Broken windows alone ran to $2,500 per year.

A pair of youngsters broke into a San Bruno school one fog-clouded day last summer and did damage estimated at "several thousands of dollars worth."

In Redwood City, weekend vandals raged through Hoover, Taft, Hawes, and Fair Oaks Schools, stealing some things, smashing others.

High Schools

Police, in South San Francisco, summer before last, complained to parents when destruction had totaled $20,000 worth by midsummer. Officers blamed "too many kids on the streets with nothing to do."

San Mateo High School District officials reported last March that vandalism to the district's seven high schools had reached $8,000 worth during that fiscal year, compared to $2,000 worth in 1966-67.

In Jefferson High School District, vandalism last year cost taxpayers over $11,577. In 1963-64, losses to deliberate destruction only amounted to $1,768. In both years, there were same number of schools, four.

Other districts report vandalism is growing. Vandalism during the past school year was four, maybe eight times as costly as it was only two or three years ago.

No Reporting System

Yet statistically, vandalism is a minor part of school budgets.

In San Mateo Elementary, for instance, vandalism last year cost approximately $25,000. The total district budget was near $10,000,000.

County Schools Coordinator of Child Welfare and Attendance Phil Bray reports:

"There is no county program of reporting or recording vandalism."

Statistically, vandals who are caught make up such a minority among captured young lawbreakers that the crime is not even labeled as a special type, at Hillcrest Juvenile Hall.

As reported in The Times during 1968, there were 74 notable cases of vandalism during the year in this county. Of these, 30 cases (40.5 per cent) were wreckage of schools.

Unprotected Property

In 1967, 67 cases of vandalism were recorded on The Times' pages, with 19 of these (or 30.4 per cent) being schools.

Obviously, this is not a complete and scientific survey of vandalism, but no one else makes a regular study.

The similarity between all cases of deliberate damage is that nearly always the wreckage occurs to property which is left unprotected. (The exception is minor vandalism at schools, window breakage, faucet ruination, initial carving, which occurs almost constantly.)

SAMUEL CHANDLER

(Daly City Librarian)

'Catching Saradove'

In the "What's New" department there is the novel, "Catching Saradove." It's the tale of a girl who moves from New Oxford, North Carolina, to the Lower East Side and Greenwich Village area of New York City.

There she attempts to learn about herself as she passes from the memories of her childhood to a world full of demonstrators, and homosexuals. At the same time she must evade the attempts of other people — her parents, her lovers, her friends to trap her into patterns of life that they create for her.

Saradove is a story of a woman who experiences fantasy, magic, reality in a drive to become her true self and to make herself fit to love another. Its author, newcomer named Bertha Harris, dipped into her own mind and experience to create her book.

ALSO NEW is "Foxes on the Hill," by Serena Sue Hilsinger. Most of the action takes place during a house party with a strange assortment of reluctant guests, including an English couple, the elderly widow of a clergyman, and a Negro youth, wander between extremes of meditation and orgy.

The author says there are three grounds in the novel: A background of sea, rocks, and history; a middle ground of muddled and often absurd social relations; and a foreground of mind, inscapes to which all the characters retreat when the going gets rough and communication seems impossible and manners most futile.

Yet another new novel is "Appointment in Budapest" by Eva Kennedy, a native of Hungary, who passed through seven prisons in Nazi Germnay.

Her novel is a story of her experiences with people and with God. Its themes are faith and hope, "the faith that is love, and the hope that can come even from horror." "There is a hidden warning in this, my true story," the author writes, "that if we don't guard well our ideals, it could happen again."

"Catching Saradove," "Foxes on the Hill," "Appointment in Budapest" represent the novels of 1969. They are by authors who are concerned about the elements that make the present time.

THEY PROBE the souls of Twentieth Century man and search for the role of the individual in our troubled society. The authors are worried men and women. Many are young and feel as Mark Dintenfass, author of Leab, expresses himself.

"I am 27 years old, an awkward age, I was too young to share the smugness of the 1950s, and too old to fully trust the revolutions of the 1960s. I was born too late to be a beatnik, too soon to be a hippie. . . Mine was a transitional generation. . . I have always been at some awkward age. I know about the generation gap firsthand: I have one foot planted firmly on each side of it: It's tearing me apart."

The novels of 1969 are by people thus torn apart.

They see what Dintenfass calls "the doubleness of things, the joy in tragedy, the laughable terror, the paradoxes of time, hate within live, energy and entropy."

Their novels promise to make reading, and watching when their stories come to the movies and television, most rewarding.

Tycoon in Sheep's Clothing

Richard Burton didn't show up for the Las Vegas press premiere of his latest flim, "Where Eagles Dare" but another "Mr. Big," in the same business did.

Louis F. Polk, Jr., a carbon copy of a young Charlton Heston, all of 38 years old, affable, a little nervous (maybe it was his first major press conference) at facing 150 elite film critics of the nation's top dailies, answered a barrage of tough questions with all the aplomb of a callow youth on his first date.

One can't afford to underestimate a man of his position, newly elected president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Inc., but at frist meeting, the man appears a complete novice at the movie game and somewhat naive about the direction his company is heading.

M-G-M has been called "the greatest film factory the industry has ever known." That's quite a legend for so young and inexperienced (in filmmaking) an executive to take on. But his predecessors weren't any older when they began at the same job. Maybe his shyness was more intimidation at having weighed the responsibility of the job.

Formerly a top executive and member of the Board of Directors of General Mills, he resigned from that company following a leave of absence he had taken to become director of special projects for Peter Flanagan, the national deputy campaign manager for Richard M. Nixon. Considering that he's stepping into the shoes of such tycoons as Louis B. Mayer and Irving Thalberg, his somewhat vague theories expressed in Las Vegas are especially surprising.

"M-G-M will try to anticipate the times. Beyond making money, a studio has unlimited opportunity to explore our pluralistic society. We're in an era when we can do great spoofs on reality. Instead of running away from that Gung Ho, rah-rah stuff, we can do a "Where Eagles Dare" and audiences will know its a put-on," he explained.

Before January I was just a guy who went to the movies. Now as head of a studio, I recognize how they're made and am more interested in directors and technical artists."

Asked to name his favorite recent films he listed, "Dr. Zhivago," "The Dirty Dozen" and "Blow-Up" which shows as broad a spectrum of approaches, techniques and ideals as can be imagined.

"I took the job as president for two reasons. One was a desire to work for my country, in an educational sense, and the second was because of a new management theory I'd envisioned. My philosophy is to have large corporations pay a debt to society by making better use of their profits. But I got a lot of nasty letters out of Orange County on that one."

"If I were going to college today, I wouldn't have been an electronic engineer at Yale but would go into films. If a computer is the nerve center of the communications field, film is the center and future of the entertainment field."

He admitted having made two mistakes in his life and followed that with "I'd make another mistake if I try to be liked in this job. I'd rather re respected."

The position has been a source of controversy in M-G-M for a long time. Dissention and financial upheaval are temporarily quelled with this appointment.

"Studio troubles stemmed from their film libraries being a hidden asset. They want to sell the studios and films to TV. And management spent too much time trying to satisfy the stockholders rather than make films. I'm an experimenter. I want to find new ways to stimulate audiences. We might find it in spoofs, such as "Eagles" or "The Warriors." That's another shoot-em-up but we must never let kids think its real. I'd like to see more of the techniques of 'Blow-Up' used."

Are tycoons made or born? Or have colorful studio bosses been phased out with the star system?

Trustee Filings

(Frank LaPierre is ill. His column this week is written by Daly City businessman, civic leader, Jim Grealish. — Editor.)

TOMORROW is the deadline for filing for the three open seats on the Jefferson Elementary and High School Districts Board of Trustees. Unless qualified and interested citizens get involved by filing for these important fositions, there will be no basis for complaints in future years.

This is an excellent opportunity for citizens to contribute in a most constructive way to the welfare of our children and our community.

With the tremendous reservoir of talent that exists in our area, it would be a sorry state of affairs if the lack of applicants made the two school board elections unnecessary. This is truly the "moment of truth" for citizens of this area.

DREW PEARSON'S column in one of last week's issues of The Times brings home a point of utmost importance to Bay Area residents.

In considering a defense for intercontinental ballistic missiles, protection of the denters of industry and population is of prime importance.

Although the Secretary of Defense stated that an accident is a possibility that is "almost nil", this is naturally the point of concern of residents of the areas around Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, Seattle, San Francisco and other centers.

This prompts the question, "Where will the defense installations be constructed?" The reaction of the average citizen is much the same as that to the freeway question, "Sure, we need them, but don't build them in my neighborhood."

It would seem that the logical solution is a mobile platform, away from the centers of population, yet effective enough to defend against the possibilty of attack. What is needed is a system that will contribute to the defense posture of our Country in the same manner that the Polaris submarine has so successfully contribtued to the offensive strength of our Nation.

THE NEW TERM that best describes such a system is SABMIS "sea-based anti-ballistic intercept system." Such a system would place anti-ballistic missiles aboard surface ships and deploy them off the Soviet and Chinese coasts.

Aside from mobility, there is another valuable point in favor of this system, that is, early intercept of enemy missiles. The Soviets are known to be able to produce a multiple warhead which breaks open at some point near the end of the trajectory and sends its warheads against individual targets. By early interception, a single SABMIS missile can destroy all of the warheads at once.

By placing anti-missile defense forces at sea, nuclear fire is then drawn away from the industrial and population concentrations of our cities. Last week the San Francisco Board of Supervisors voted to oppose the proposed installation of Sentinel missile bases in the Bay Area.

Not a very pleasant subject, but one that bears some thought.

OLD REDS must have turned over in their teepees when they heard of the news that a 27-year-old, mini-skirted Stanford University professor successfully led a drive that resulted in a 25-8 vote of the Academic Senate to deny academic credit for military training programs.

What is even more disconcerting to them is that the population of the military trainees represents less than three percent of the current enrollment at The Farm, so why should it be such an important issue?

The objection to the courses was supposedly based on the fact that the graduates are trained for a single employer — the Defense Department.

Is this academic freedom, where a student at a private institution does not have the choice of selecting his field of study?

WHERE DO WE GO from here?

Now that the Daly City General Plan has been prepared, what is the next step?

Hopefully, it will not be filed away and utilized only to qualify for Federal grants.

There is a great deal of material of interest to Daly City citizens included in the excellently prepared volume. Chamber of Commerce Vice-President Evert Terminello will present the West Bay Rapid Transit District at tomorrow's Chamber meeting to discuss a portion of the transportation section of the plan.

Car Sales Pacts

QUESTION: I contracted with a salesman for a new car and put down a $100 deposit to close the deal. The next morning the salesman phoned an said his sales manager would not go through with the contract unless I added another $75. I refused to pay the extra money and asked and received my money back. The trouble is that I actually wanted this particular car and was under the impression that such a contract signed was binding upon both parties.

ANSWER: Each new car contract contains a statement to the effect that the contract is not binding unless approved by the management who reserves the right to review all contracts signed by its salesmen. Car buyers should recognize the fact that a salesman does not have the final say on a car deal. Only management can bind a company to the purchase contract.

QUESTION: My landlord has given me notice that my rent is being raised $25 a month. Can he do this?

ANSWER: There is no control on what a landlord can charge this tenants. The landlord has the right to increase a tenant's rent after a suitable notice. Your only solution is to find a place to live within your price range.

Le Pacini Capsules Comments of Former Coaches

EVER SINCE John Madden became the linebacker coach for the Raiders in 1967, we've been meaning to do a column on hi For some inexplicable reason, we put it off. Perhaps our subconscious knew more than out conscious. What we were waiting for, obviously, was the Big Apple. Namely, Madden to be named head coach. And so he has.

Rather than to interview Madden personally, however, and surely ask him the same question — and receive the same answers—that every other columnist in writing distance already has, we present here some capsule (and some not so capsule comments on John as he was known in his years in Daly City by former coaches, friends and teammates.

(For the newt, a brief Madden biography: Age 32, Daly City native, attended Jefferson High, lettering in baseball, basketball, football; played football at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo; went out for the Philadelphia Eagles, made the cuts through spring training and then injured his knee before the season opener, causing rtirement; was assistant and head coach at Hancock Junior College, Santa Maria, his 1963 team ranking ninth nationally; moved to San Diego State as an assistant for three years; then to the Raiders; he and his wife, Virginia, have two sons, Mike, 4, and Joe, 2.)

JOE McGRATH (Madden's football coach at Jefferson):

I had John on the frosh-soph in 1951. The next year, I became varsity coach. John and I made the varsity together.

John was a big, good natured, easy going kid. Some said he was lazy, but when he ade up his mind that something was worthwile learning, he could learn it. He went on in college to get his MA, and I know that he was working on his doctorate. He had a reputation in some circles as being a hot-head, but at Jeff he wasn't the kind of kid who wouldgoaroundlookingfor fights. I think he really got that reputation mainly playing baseball, because he blew his stack a couple of times at Capuchino High School. In fact, about the only time he ever got in trouble in athletics was when we were playing in San Bruno. Those kids really knew how to get to him, calling him "Red Dog," and getting his goat in general.

230-240 and was the third fastest man, on the straightaway, But he was always capable. In high school he weighed on a fast team. After about 45 yards he'd really pick up speed. He always wanted to be a fullback, and he probably would have been a real good one, but we had a lot of guys who could play in the backfield and we needed some big, tough guys up front.

As I said, he was an easy-going kid who never got too riled up about anything, which sometimes worked against him. You had to be on his back all the time, booting him in the tail, making him run extra laps. But in his senior year he got more serious, and he was a kid you could talk to and make sense with him, a good kid, coachable. In that senior year he started coming around and having serious talks with me about his future, about college, and I think it was then that he made up his mind he wanted to be good and go on and play ball. And he did a helluva job that last year. He worked his tail off and developed into probably the best center I had in my more than 20 years of coaching football at Jeff, and one of the best football players the school ever had. He had trouble with lateral movement and didn't play defense, but offensively he was one of the best blocking high school linemen I ever saw.

I enjoyed the association with John. To give you an example of how he would listen to advice, I remember telling John when he was going to college — he used to come back frequently to visit us — that he should take up wrestling (we hadn't had it at Jeff) to help his lateral movement. The next season he came back to visit, and by God, he had taken up wrestling. He wasn't a top-notch wrestler, but it did improve his lateral movement, which helped his defensive play.

No doubt, John matured late. He was typical of a lot of kids in his attitude toward education. He wasn't going to knock himself out at anything unless he could see some point to it. I guess he saw some point to coaching football.

MIKE ORLICH (Now the school district's work experience supervisor, then Madden's basketball coach):

John played three years of varsity basketball for me, two years on first string. My impressions of him at the time were that he was an average football player, an excellent baseball player, and a fine basketball player.

At that time he didn't seem to me to be too interested in football. He had a good brain, was a good, real sharp student, but he just wasn't too interested in anything, it seemed. He was a little overweight, laxidazical. But he was going through those crazy adolescent years.

Actually, his career seemed to be in baseball. He was big, hit the long ball, was just the kind of guy scouts were looking for in those days. His only trouble was he had a little temper.

But he was agood kid to have around, a good kid for a coach. He got along with everybody, could put you in stitches, he was so funny at times.

LOU MARTIN (New principal of Serramonte, John's baseball coach through his junior and senior years):

A Collision Course For Cap, Aragon?

By JOHN HORGAN

Unless one or the other stumbles next week, Aragon and Capuchino high schools are on a collision course for the Mid-Peninsula League basketball championship which won't be settled until February 25 when the pair meet in San Mateo.

Fittingly enough that is the last day of the season. It will probably take until the 25th to decide the title since neither Cap nor Aragon has to meet a first division team until then.

The Mustangs, 8-2, grabbed onto a slim one-half game lead in the MPL on Friday night when they got by San Mateo, 81-69, in San Bruno. They (and the Dons on Arago) got a break when their closest pursuer, Burlingame, fell for the second time to Hillsdale, 56-50, in Burlingame.

Mills, lately emerging as a possible thorn in the side of the title contenders with three wins in their last four outings, whipped winless Crestmoor, 75-57, in Millbrae in the night's final game.

Aragon was idle on Friday. The Dons are 7-2.

For Burlingame, their loss was a bitter one since it represented elimination from the race for a crown they haven't won since 1957.

The Panthers, 15-6 for the entire season (their finest since '57 by far), are now tied for third place with Hillsdale. Both are 6-4.

Burlingame fell behind at the end of the first half and never caught up with the taller and brawnier Knights who capitalized on their height advantage for a total of 13 layins and follow shots in their total of 18 field goals. Center Mike Stephens hammered in 24 points, with all nine of his baskets coming on close-in shots.

Burlingame Coach Frank Bettendorf admitted that his team was "a little flat" after their close loss to Capuchino on Tuesday night but noted that, "We did the best we could under the circumstances."

His team was led by Tim Goll's 19 points.

Neither Bettendorf nor Hillsdale Coach Homer Zugelder wanted to pick a winner of that February 25th game but both said that the advantages all seeemed to be with Aragon.

Bettendorf summed up their feelings when he said, "Aragon has already beaten Cap in San Bruno and now they have that home-court advantage. Still, I can't predict who will win it."

He added that the Mustangs' press and outside shooting will probably be their keys against the Dons.

Those ingredients were precisely what turned the trick for the San Brunans against San Mateo.

Resurgent Mills got 23 points from steady John Schilling — and some scoring help from John Cowan and Chris Condit — and that was enough to get the Vikes past Crestmoor.

The Falcons got a high of 19 points from Dinsmore.

N.P.L. BASKETBALL ACTION

Indians Hoping for a Tie In Contest Against S.S.F.

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Sports Writer

It may be hard to believe after last night's game but the Jefferson Indians are the Westmoor Rams' biggest rooters — now.

Jefferson dropped the Ram quintet from all title hopes with a 46-34 victory on Friday but several things must happen in order for the Indians to gain a tie for the title with defending champion South San Francisco. Not the least important of those occurrences is a Westmoor win over SSF in the season finale. If the Indians were to upset SSF next Friday and the Rams did likewise a week later, the North Peninsula League would have two teams with 10-2 records and a play-off would be forthcoming.

But for now — the Jeff win moved the Indians two games off the pace with four games left. In other conference action, Oceana upset El Camino, 80-76, in overtime and Terra Nova whipped winless Half Moon Bay, 70-40.

Jeff forward Steve Kirby, held scoreless in the first half and getting just two points in the third period, personally demolished the Rams with a torrid 11-point final period splurge on a variety of long-range jumpers. Kirby, in his finest clutch performance of the year, pulled the Indians away after Jeff barely led at the end of the third stanza, 28-26.

It was a low-scoring but fast-moving game that saw both squads go through periods of frigid shooting. Unfortunately for the Rams their cold hand lasted the entire second half. After taking a 19-18 intermission lead on Dan Coffey's two free throws after the first half ended, the Rams forced numerous bad shots which fell off and when they did take time to work their pattern offense the shots were harmlessly rimming the basket.

Jeff, meanwhile, relied on center Pinky Smith's rebounding and good foul shooting to keep them always within three points until the Indians made that final, fatal move. So poor was the entire Westmoor offense that no player got in double figures.

Leading by as much as 11 points in the final quarter, the El Camino Colts pulled a classic el foldo in losing to a determined Oceana five. The well-deserving Sharks faced all sorts of adverse conditions such as three starters fouling out with four minutes left in regulation play, but the remaining two, forward Dick Lynch and guard Chuck Smookler had enough left for the overtime win.

With nine seconds left Oceana, trailing 74-72, got the ball off a missed free throw by Tom Buckley. Apparently disorganized and the frenzied last second pressure, Don Notitsky's team threw the ball around until with one second left Lynch heaved a 25-footer that swished the nets as the buzzer sounded.

Lynch then opened the overtime with a 20-footer and Smookler dropped in two free throws for all that was needed. Camino's Pete Saco got a lay-in but Smookler added two more free throws with 18 seconds left to ice the win. Forward Frank Anderson was the game's high scorer with 26 while Saco had 21. Center Rich Johnston led the winners with 23 before fouling out.

Terra Nova moved into a tie for fourth place last night with the easy win over the Cougars. Don Delbon's cagers led 35-14 at the half and had very little trouble with center Rich Papadakis taking scoring honors with 17. Guard Bill Downing, the league's leading scorer, ran a close second with 16 while forward Dennis Chrysler added 12 more. The Tigers next must face SSF.

Several swimmers were singled out for Achievement Award Trophies.

Daly City-Colma Knights Of Columbus Set Tourney

The Tenth Annual Knights of Columbus Invitation Basketball Tournament will be held on Saturday, Washington's Birthday, in the Doly City War Memorial Gymnasium commencing at noon.

Tom Curr, tournament director, announced that invitations have been sent to Holy Angels, Our Lady of Mercy, Our Lady of Perpetual Help and Saint Thomas More.

Each of the schools will send a representative eighth grade team to participate in the tournament, which is sponsored by Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus, Daly City-Colma.

Trophies will be awarded to each of the teams, sependent upon their final placement in the tournament.

An exhibition game between Marian Council 3773 and U.S.F. Council 4394 will take place at half time.

The public is invited to view all games of the tournament free.

Rams Move Toward Title In Soccer

Westmoor High booters took a giant step toward the North Peninsula League soccer championship, when they defeated a strong South San Francisco team, 1 to 0 at Westmoor.

The Rams started their offensive attack immediately.

Defensive play of Len Costillo, Doug Matgen, Archie Roboostoff, and Dave Morro helped the Rams hold the South San Francisco team scoreless in the first half.

The Warriors played a tight defensive game and the Rams also were unable to score in the first half.

In the early stages of the second half a mixup in the penalty area of the Rams resulted in a kick for South San Francisco.

Jose Martinez attempted the penalty kick, but Ram Dave Goldman, who has yet to let a goal be scored against him, stopped it.

The Rams' overall record for two years has been 19 wins, no losses and one tie.

Ram Faculty Cagers Face KYA Oneders

K.Y.A. Oneders, led by captain Johnny Holliday, will come face to face with the Westmoor High faculty, February 20. The Oneders at the moment sustain a record.

Westmoor High's faculty, winless when facing the Oneders in the past, are out for revenge.

Such individuals as Jack "the Ripper" Ramage, Jim "the lion Lair," Tony "the Riger" Giammona, Bobbie "Bad News" Lottie, "Georgeous" George McNutt, Harry "the Hustler" Wiedner, "Leapin" Leonard Martin, "Wild Bill" Cornejo, Herb "CrazyLegs" Goodyear, Dick "Teddy Bear" Connors, and Rodney "the lover" Losberger, will be the men who hope to lead the Ram Faculty to victory.

and Collegues of New Raider Head Coach Madden

John was an excellent ball player. I'll never forget how he was involved in an opportunity to make good and blew it classically, as teenagers are prone to do.

In his senior year he had been highly touted because of his size, a bullet arm, good speed and the ability to hit the long ball . . . it wasn't unusual for him to hit balls 440 feet. And those were measured shots, on the fly, not the roll.

Anyway, we were playing in San Mateo and there were four or five scouts there to watch him. Unfortunately, he got wind of it, got nervous, and did everything wrong a player could do; striking out, throwing balls into center field, getting into trouble with the umpire.

After the game the scouts came up to me and asked me if that was the Madden they had heard about. I told them yes, he has just had an off-day. They said they'd be back the next week, when we were playing Capuchino for the championship playoffs. In that game some of those rooters sitting behind the backstop started calling him "Red Dog," because of his flaming red hair. That was something that just used to get him mad as hell. True to form, he went right up in the sky, and so in that series he played only so-so, and the scouts lost interest.

John's only really bad trait was his rabbit ears. I have a feeling he's conquered that, but if he hasn't, he's in trouble.

But he was always a real good competitor, a real hard worker, and there was just no question about his knowledge of the games he played. He had a good head on his shoulders.

CLARENCE LAIR (Now a math and science teacher at Terra Nova, was Madden's baseball coach when John was a sophomore):

Frankly, John never overly impressed me as a football player. He was good natured, slow moving, laxidazical, had a lot of baby fat. But he was a pretty darned good baseball catcher.

As far as being a student of sports, though, I wouln't have characterized him that way in high school. He was just easy going and more happy-go-lucky. Evidently, he changed his philosophy somewhere in college. I never would have predicted he'd end up where he is now.

AL FIGONE (Now baseball coach at Terra Nova, Figone played baseball and football with Madden):

John was a real good athlete, but even though the baseball scouts were after him for a while, football seemed to consume most of his interest. He was always talking football, discussing with his buddies how he'd defense this, or how he'd run against that offense, always drawing X's and O's. I remember him as a real student of football.

As kids, John and I went to many a sporting event together and used to dream about what we'd like to do in athletics in the future. His big ambition was always to be head coach of the 49ers. He didn't miss by much.

DON DELBON (Now varsity basketball coach at Terra Nova, Delbon played baseball, football and basketball with Madden at Jeff):

Madden was good at both basketball and baseball. He was a real good kid, the stereotyped big, good natured, laxidazical giant. He certainly wasn't the type you'd ever think of as being in the powerful position of leadership he now holds — gosh, you just never could have forsaw his present career.

JACK THUR: (Now football coach at Seramonte, Thur blocked beside Madden in what has become an almost legendary Jefferson front wall):

John was a late bloomer. He became a much better football player after he got out of high school. Oh, he was steady, he played the game well, he was the biggest kid on the team and the third fastest, but as far as foreseeing him as a professional coach, it would have been impossible. He just wasn't that aggressive in high school, nor a student of the game in the real sense of the word.

In college he became aggresive. If he had been as rough and tough in high school as he became in college, nobody could have handled him. After high school, he just kept improving. If he hadn't hurt himself he might have made it big with the Eagles.

I always liked John, he was a helluva nice kid. In high school he was always a reserved type of person, but he's moe an outgoing personality now. And I'll tell you one of the nicest things about John. He's never forgotten his old friends.

FLOYD GONELLA (Now the Jefferson Union High School District director of Educational Services and a former great Jefferson High athlete himself. Gonella, older than Madden, never played with him, but knew him well):

John always had a real aspiration to succeed at whatever he did. Whatever sport he played, he tried to do real well. And he was a real personable guy. Everybody liked him. At that time, though, I never had any idea he would go on to a coaching career, even though he had this real interest in sports.

But then I saw him one time when I was just starting my coaching career at Westmoor and he had just finished playing at Cal Poly. We had a long talk up there in the Westmoor parking lot, and I came away from it convinced that Madden was a man who was determined that coaching was going to be his career.

Fifth, Sixth Grade Action In South San Francisco

Fifth and sixth graders went into action again recently in the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department's basketball league.

Foxridge overcame a 10-4 halftime deficit to edge rival Serra Vista 20-16 in a tight contest that could have gone either way. Eugene Varni, Jeff Yock and John Lahaderne pumped in 6, 4 and 4 points respectively for the Forridge winners. Serra Vista's Mike Brower hit for 5 points, while Will Rhodes and Kevin Loeffler popped for 4 each.

Avalon East, led by Paul Bachtold's 17 tallies, overwhelmed Brentwood North 42-6. Harold Bennett and Jordy Goyton were also big guns for the Avalon Club. Butch Gurtler, Mark Wasserman and Paul Navarro did all of the scoring for the Brentwood North team while Dave and Pete Rossi were key playmakers.

Brentwood So"h's team also played well but they too were toppled by Winston Manor 26-7. Vince Cabalero was the high point man with 13 followed by Kevin Thickstun and Mike O'Regan's 4.

Daly City Recreation Summary

The boys' basketball league, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, completed its sixth week of play with the following results:

Fifth Grade and Under

Bouncing Bill Hayner of the OLPH Eagles sank 13 points to lead his team to a 27-25 edge over the Holy Angels Wildcats. The underrated OLM Wildcats scored an impressive victory over the PAL Tigers by the score of 35-26.

Fifth Grade

Justifying their tie for the lead in this division, the OLM Lakers, coached by John Kavanaugh, earned their victory over the smaller BYA Bombers by a 19-12 score. "Running Ron" Sylvin "socked it to 'em" — that is, Mike Siotto's and Maury Tolson's BYA Rockets — as the 20 points popped by "Running Ron" was the deciding factor in the PAL Giants' 45 to 22 landslide.

The much acclaimed OLPH Cardinals, coached by George Valente and Joe Arnold, rallied their Hoop Burners to a 13-11 score over the very tough BYA Rockets, led by "Devil" Daly with six points.

Sixth Grade—National Division

Guillory's great OLPH Sparrows flew past the BYA Bruins as Babe Baptista burst with 22 points to edge the Bruins 38-36. Meanwhile, another close game was on tap as the PAL Tigers, coached by George Pedroni and Ron Kruger clawed by Omar Grimes and Dave Perazzo's big, bad PAL Bears 28-26. The Holy Angels Greens captured a 22-15 victory over the OLM Vultures.

Sixth Grade—American Division

The domineering OLM Hawks, led by Dan Salvemini, controlled top spot in their division with a 26-18 win over the OLM Doves. Hunts Bulldogs, coached by the "three M's" Murray, Murray and Mitchell (withoutside consultation from Stan Wiener) almost dribbled their way past Rich Brewer's and "Easy" Ed Guzman's wallaping Indians but they lost 21-24. Holy Angels Whhites scored an impressive victory over the much talked about BYA Lakers 19-11.

Seventh Grade—West Coast Div.

Bart Fitzpatrick, known for his clever coaching techniques, cleared "Marvelous" McVeigh and "Truck" Tracy to 12 points each as they outscored the PAL Raiders 46-12. Rich Brewer finally pulled a winner for the day as the Rockets, led by Tom Liston, captured a 34-32 pullout from the OLPH Orioles. Holy Angels Saints controlled the boards as the 33-26 score over the BYA Royals-JVs indicated.

Seventh Grade—Sunset Division

"Gentle" George Thompson coached his PAL Cubs to 37 points to outpower the BYA Supersonics 25 points.

Fine ball control proved to be the deciding factor for the OLPH Bluejays' 34-25 win over the OLM Bandits. Paced by "Accurate" Athenian's 19 points, the PAL Eagles team dominated the OLM Panthers, 59-24.

Eighth Grade

The PAL Eagles, coached by "Kind" Ken Lewis, experienced little resistance from the PAL Hawks in their 52-29 romp over the latter. The Roadrunners, led by the 16 points made by Mike Jones, overpowered Art Garcia's OLPH Doves. Fine ball control exercised by the PAL Colts was a deciding factor in the 38-37 win over the Holy Angels Warriors.

Eighteen points scored by "Wonderful" Waldren helped sustain the OLPH Falcons' drive to first place as the Falcons beat the Tigers 67-44.

The Recreation Department's Co-Rec Volleyball League was partly brought to a close last week as the "B" Division ended its highly contested league play with Dan Emmett's Mistits capturing the title.

A tie for second place was honored by Pat Canavan's Rejects and "Muscle" Mickey Corso's Our Gang.

NORMAN WISEMAN (third from left) leads the Pacifica Rotary Club's hole-in-one contest, which ends March 2. A. B. Lewelling is second. Wiseman's effort has placed him within 7 feet-3 inches of the 140-yard target. First award in competition is a portable black and white television set, and second a set of men's woods, according to Wayne Webster (left), the promanager of Pedro Point driving range. Also pictured are Rotarian president Jack Palm (swinging club), Enrico Romaro, (second from left), Dr. Robert Watt, right, and Postmaster Ken Strom (behind Palm). (Post Photo)

Stoller & Sons Lead Coast Loop

Stoller & Sons made their third win an impressive one by overwhelming Folger Metals 74-52 in the Pacifica adult basketball league.

Kennedy and With provided most of the scoring having 27 and 21 points respetcively. Bob Folger made it a fine offensive effort of 19 points for Folger Metals in a losing cause.

Manor Barber Shop broke into the win column with a very impressive win over winless Sears by a score of 61-28. Gernaat, Williams, and Lydin led all Manor Barber scores with 13, 16, and 10 points respectively.

Dial Glass moved into sole possession of first place with a fine win over Sorethumbs, 52-42

Bowling Notes

Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

The big news last week, last month and the last ten years was Wayne Chester's all-time high series for both adults and juniors in Northern California and the second highest series in the State of California. His 299-279 and 269 games for an 847 series set all types of local state and national records. He joined Westlake Juniors Phil Buchanan with 287-770, Ray Ng with 278-765, and Berry Brown with 289-758 as four of the top five junior bowlers in the United States — a tremendous credit to Westlake Junior Director Marge Brown.

Vicki Ertassi took both high game and high series honors in the Tuesday morning Rebels League as she shot a 211 game and 539 series.

As the fourteen teams of the Golden Gate Handicap League shot in the Northern California Team Handicap Tournament, Bill Greer led the scoring with a big 227 game and 620 series.

Jean Soares was the lading lady in the Starlighters League Monday evening by rolling a 196 game and 521 series.

Four ladies teams from Westlake have qualified for the Sectional Rolloffs in the Northern California Ladies' Team Handicap Tournament. Leading the qualifiers was the State Sheet Metal team with 2965, followed by Stan Flowers Co. 2902, Westlake Stationers 2886 and Award's Unlimited 2856. The ladies now compete at the Concord Bowl in Concord on the weekend of March 22-23 or 29-30 in an attempt to qualify for the State Finals at Holiday Bowl in Hayward June 7-8. Qualifying for the Men's Team Handicap Tournament continues until March 2. With over 100 teams already entered, at least 20 teams are guaranteed to qualify for the Sectional Rolloff.

Bea and Bill Nickel teamed to lead the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives League Wednesday night as both shot games of 205, Bea having a 586 series and Bill a 582.

A big 246 game and 590 series by George Balleto took top honors for the week in the Wednesday night Westlake Knolls League.

A 613 series by both Floyd Howell and Hal Kull was high for the week in the Telco Leawue.

Dot Carrara rolled 116 pins over her average as she led the St. Emydius Belles League for the week with a great 568 series on games of 199-204 and 165.

One hundred pins separated the leaders in the TGIF Mixed Fives League Friday as Ruth Noll led the ladies with 179-507 and Jerry Gladwin topped the men with a 214 game and 607 series.

Bowler of the week in the Veterans League was Bisc Bisnucci with a 210 game and 604 series.

Tom McCue was a repeat leader in the Southwest Handicap League, shooting a 209 game and 596 series.

In the Thursday afternoon Blue Chip Bonanza, Jean Lunghi with 1500 stamps and Jenny Sorini with 1300 were the big winners for the day.

Sis Meehan with a 187 game and 475 series and Tom Olmo with 202-538 were high for the week in the Thursday night Park Plaza Mixed League.

The Third Annual Adult-Junior Tournament is now in progress at Westlake and will run until February 23. Any combination of ABC or WIBC with a junior bowler is eligible to compete at any time lanes are available.

Some great scores are being posted in the current All-American Youth Bowling Association Tournament. The final winners qualify for a free trip to Washington, D.C.

Penny Knowlton's 165 game and 436 series and Mike Lehrfeld's 206-527 were high in the Fireman's Fund Insurance League.

Entries close for the California State Men's Annual Tournament on February 22 and for the San Francisco Bowling Association Annual City Tourament on February 23. Entry blanks for both tournaments are available at the desk.

In the Pfizer and Friends League, Anne Nieve with 175-462 and Bob Wills with a 193 game and 542 series were high for the week.

Serra Bowl

By EMMY STODOLA

The Serra Belles highs were Diane Johanson 178-471 and Babs Gockwend 178-455. On top in the Holy Angels were Mary McNulty 166-471, Val Madrieres 166-460, Coleen Caruso 191-456 and Flo Dillon 170-456. Youngsters Should Develop Taste for Fine Foods

Has it ever struck you that few chefs seems to be native-born Americans? That's because American children don't get enough variety and imagination in their meals, says a highly ranked Swiss-born chef.

According to Roland Rickenbach, who is executive chef at one of New York City's most elegant restaurants, The Sign of the Dove, American youngsters don't develop a palate for subtle flavors and delicacy foods because their diets are limited to hamburgers and sandwiches.

"I hear the mothers complaining that children just won't taste many foods, but we had stricter training. What we wouldn't eat for lunch we got for dinner. And all the women in my family made it a point to be fine cooks," says Rickenbach.

An executive chef is the director of the kitchen, supervising the menu, under-chefs and staff, accounts and purchasing, and coordinating with the dining room executive, plus doing important parts of the cooking himself. Rickenbach, a genial man in his mid-thirties, runs a staff of 15 to 25 people in turning out "haute cuisine" dishes.

"Being a chef is a hard occupation, you either love it or hate it. I love it, especially in New York where the atmosphere is so exciting and you can get any exotic ingredient you need. But I will say that in Europe the chef's name is known to the patrons and he has a following if he is good. Here he is anonymous and the people praise only the restauranteur who had the sense to hire him. The name of the chef should be printed on the menu."

Rickenbach loves to work in the city, but lives with his wife two hours away in the country. They raise chickens and rabbits which wind up in the cookpot, and love venison although he shudders at the thought of shooting an animal. But the neighbors, savoring the Swiss chef's way with a venison roast, keep them well supplied in season.

"I don't have a kitchen full of clever gadgets, rather just a few special knives and a good set of aluminum pots and pans like in the restaurant, so that food cooks evenly and quickly."

After preparing such specialties as Chateaubriand with Five Vegetables or rack of lamb at the restaurant, what does the chef make for himself and his wife at home? Stuffed chicken breasts are a favorite. More simply, an aromatic beef stew, Continental style, can often be found simmering in the big Dutch oven. Served with bread and a good wine, it makes a hearty, easy winter meal.

And how does the chef keep his waistline in trim, faced with so much rich food? "I work long hours and run around a lot," says Rickenbach solemnly.

SAVORY BOILED BEEF RICKENBACH

2 pounds lean shank of beef, cut in pieces or chuck in cubes
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
6 whole cloves
3 cloves of garlic
½ teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon thyme
Water to cover
2 onions
3 medium potatoes
1 large celery stalk
2 leeks
Parsley

Place beef in six-quart, non-stick coated Dutch oven. Add salt, pepper, bay leaf, cloves, garlic, oregano and thyme. Cover with water; bring to boil; reduce to simmer; cover and cook two hours or until meat is tender. Peel onions and potatoes; cut in half. Scrape carrots; cut in two-inch lengths. Cut celery and leeks in two-inch lengths Place vegetables in Dutch oven with meat. Cover and simmer one hour or until vegetables are tender-crisp. Arrange meat and vegetables on platter and garnish with parsley. Broth may be served as soup beforehand. Serves four.

A Cassoulet Dating Back To Romans

French provincial cooking has little resemblance to the haute cuisine of the more sophisticated Ile de France. The elaborate sauces and complicated dishes are not for the thrifty folk of the provinces bordering on the Mediterranean. But cooking remains an art, and each town fiercely plumps for its own version of the countryside's favorites.

A Cassoulet of Languedoc is a typical example. The original dates back to the days of the Roman Empire, and is based on white beans, sausage and garlic. Then, whatever meats are in good supply are added, plus the touch that makes it truly individual—duck or goose, bacon or salt pork; in Castelnaudary, the secret is partridge

Whatever the combination, the result is delicious—but—the cooking thereof is interminable — five hours or more. Which makes it a good candidate for the modern pressure cooker! With this speedy appliance, the time needed for a streamlined Cassoulet is cut to but 45 minutes under pressure, after a preliminary sauteeing of the meats. And, the good, aromatica, provincial flavor is beautifully developed in the cooker.

Quick Cassoulet is not only hearty and appetizing, but it's remarkably low-cost, too. Inexpensive breast of lamb, Italian sweet or link sausages and salt pork are combined with white beans and artfully seasoned with onions and a bit of garlic. Ripe tomatoes make a colorful (if not authentic) addition. And, if you like, red wine provides a subtle overtone.

America's own versions of baked beans are great made in the pressure cooker, too. Would you believe old-fashioned Boston "Baked" Beans, that once took all day Saturday, in 45 minutes? Or gourmet Orange Baked Beans and Burgundy Beans for company fare? Same ease, same time. The recipies for all of these, incidentally, are in the recipe book that comes with each pressure cooker.

QUICK CASSOULET

1 lb. small white pea beans
2 lbs. breast of lamb
¼ lb. salt pork, diced
1 lb. large link or Italian sweet sausages ,cut in half
1 large onion, sliced
1 clove garlic, diced
1 bay leaf
Few sprigs parsley
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 cups water
2 small firm tomatoes, sliced
½ cup red wine (optional)

Soak beans in water to cover overnight; drain thoroughly. Trim breast of lamb, removing excess fat; cut into bite-size pieces. Heat pressure cooker and add prepared lamb and salt pork; cook and stir until meat is browned; pour off fat. Add sausages and continue cooking until sausage turns color; pour off fat. Add onion, garlic, bay leaf parsley, beans, salt and pepper. Add water. Add tomato slices. Close cover securely, place pressure regulator on vent pipe and cook 45 minutes. Let pressure drop of its own accord. If desired, stir in red wine before serving. Makes six servings.

Perhaps Pineapple Burgers Will Help You Get Out of Pineapple Rut

In a pineapple rut? Yes, if you've been making Pineapple Delicious all your life and know the recipe by heart. If your kids love it that much, you probably won't have a bit of trouble foisting some new dishes upon them, and what a break for the adults.

Pineapple Burgers to start with. The canned pineapple slices are centered with a fresh garden relish of tomato, celery, green pepper and green onion. From plain hamburgers to Pineapple Burgers with Garden Relish is a mere matter of time. Five minutes if you're slow.

Another dish to relish is Pineapple Seabreeze salad. The contrasting flavors and textures of canned pineapple chunks with grapefruit sections, cucumber and shrimp are delightful together. You could use a simple oil and vinegar dressing if you're pressed for time. Otherwise, this spicy tomato dressing is the perfect one to meld all the flavors.

Once you get the hang of it, pineapple sorcery is the easiest form of magic. Some things are naturally dull and can be brought around with the help of canned pineapple. do a little experimenting in small batches to see for yourself how far you can go with a sense of adventure and a can of pineapple.

TROPICAL PINEAPPLE BURGERS

Bright new look for hamburgers with canned pineapple and garden relish.

1 pound ground lean beef
1 teasopon salt
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 tablespoons finely chopped green onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
⅛ teaspoon oregano
Soy sauce
4 canned pineapple slices

Fresh Garden Relish

Combine beef, salt, monosodium glutamate, onion, Worcestershire and oregano. Mix lightly but well. Divide into 4 portions, shaping each into a round patty. Brush with soy sauce. Pan broil to crusty brown on one side. Turn, top each patty with pineapple slice. Brush lightly with soy sauce. Cover and continue cooking to desired degree of doneness. Serve with Fresh Garden Relish. Makes 4 servings.

FRESH GARDEN RELISH: Combine 1 cup chopped tomato, ¼ cup EACH chopped celery and green pepper and 2 tablespoons chopped green onion. Drain off excess liquid. Combine vegetables with ¼ teaspoon seasoned salt, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard and 1 teaspoon vinegar. Makes about 1½ cups.

PINEAPPLE SEABREEZE SALAD

A lovely salad bowl to set before luncheon guests. It's one to dress and serve at the table.

1 (1-pound 14-ounce) can pineapple chunks
2 cups grapefruit segments
1 sliced cucumber
2 cups cooked or canned shrimp
2 cups shredded crisp salad greens
Crisp romaine
Spicy Tomato Dressing

Combine drained pineapple chunks with grapefruit, cucumber and shrimp. Line bottom of chilled salad bowl with shredded greens. Arrange romaine spears around sides. Pile pineapple mixture in bowl. Serve with Spicy Tomato Dressing. Makes 6 servings.

SPICY TOMATO DRESSING: Combine ¼ cup EACH syrup drained from canned pineapple, tomato catsup, salad oil and vinegar with ⅜ teaspoon EACH seasoned salt, pepper, dry mustard and celery seed. Shake vigorously to blend. Let stand 1 hour to mellow flavors Shake well before using. Makes about 1 cup dressing.

LET'S KNIT

The keywords "dressy," "sporty," "practical," and "eyecatching" would apply to this sweater No. 145 modeled by movie and television actress Stephanie Shayne. The garment features raglan sleeves which most knitters find the easiest to knit—and wear. A cable stitch design dresses up the front and sleeves of this sweater. The back is worked in plain stockinette stitch. Semi-bulky yarn and No. 13 size needles make for fast finishing of this item.

Illustrated instructions come in sizes 8 through 22. All sizes are included on one pattern.

If you wish to make a complete outfit, we have straight skirt pattern No. 90 or A-skirt pattern No. 92 available. Sizes come from 10 through 22, all included on either pattern.

To obtain pattern No. 145, No. 92, or No. 90, send 75 cents for EACH pattern in coin, check or money order to Ursula duBois Lewis, San Mateo Times, Box 3307, Van Nuys, Calif. 91407.

Escape In Night Holdup

Two men in their early twenties, both Negro, held up the new La Dora Liquor store in San Bruno Sunday, escaping with $260 in cash.

San Bruno police said Louis Bacigalupi, 43, clerk at the 604 San Bruno Avenue store, was stocking a dairy case, and a customer, Jerold Granger, 22, was browsing, when the suspects entered at 11:45 p.m.

One of the suspects went to the counter where the cash register was located, while the second man stood back.

Bacigalupi was ordered to "get behind the counter," after the suspect displayed a nickel-plated, snub-nosed, small-caliber revolver.

Granger, like the second suspect, stood back and remained silent.

Bacilgalupi opened the cash register as directed and the suspect took the contents. A .36-caliber automatic, kept behind the coin counter in the store, also was taken, police said.

Granger and Bacigalupi were told to get behind the meat counter, on the floor. They were cautioned not to get up.

"We have a friend outside watching with a shotgun," one of the bandit robbers said.

Customer Granger and Clerk Bacigalupi followed the pair's instructions and remained behind the meat counter, but only until they heard the doorbell when the suspects left the store. Police were then called.

The suspects were described as in their early twenties, of medium build and average height. They were wearing dark height. They were wearing dark clothing, police said.

Neither of the robbers was masked.

Bruno Man Is Arrested

A 40-year-old warehouseman was jailed Saturday by San Bruno police on a charge that he brandished a pistol in a rude and threatening manner.

The suspect is Sandor Durdon of the El Patio motel, Apt. D, 850 El Camino Real, San Bruno.

Durdon, according to San Bruno police spokesmen, was arrested at 3:15 a.m. by patrolman Gary Kreuger, after another resident of the motel, Lonnie Lee, 23, of Apt. F, alleged Durdon had pulled the gun on him.

Lee told authorities that about 2:45 a.m. he saw Durdon pounding on the door of Apartment C, occupied by 21-year-old Amelia Dyns.

Police said Lee then told Durdon to stop pounding on the door; that the hour was too late to be calling on a lady.

An exchange of words followed and, then, police said, Durdon supposedly pulled a gun from his pocket and aimed it at Lee.

Lee ran to his own apartment, staying inside until he thought the suspect had gone. Lee called police, with officer Krueger responding.

Krueger saw the suspect in front of Apartment F. In searching Durdon, the patrolman found a two-inch, 38 caliber pistol in Durdon's rear pocket.

Bostwick Has Role In National Meet

Henry Bostwick, Jr., general manager of the San Mateo County Development Association left this week to attend a joint Seminar of the American Industrial Development Council and the American Institute of Planners being held in Washington, D.C.

The program officially begins on Monday, February 17 at which time Emery Hoenshell, President of the American Industrial Development Council (AIDC) and System Director of Area Development, Consolidated Natural Gas System of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and Alan M. Voorhees, of Alan M. Voorhees & Associates, Inc., of McLean Virginia and President of the American Institute of Planners will discuss the characteristics, objectives and long range goals of their respective organizations.

Bostwick, will present the American Industrial Development Council's view of their counterparts in the planning profession. Similarly, C. D. Loeks, a planner from New York State, representing the Mid Hudson Pattern for Progress will relate how Industrial Developers look to professional planners.

In addition to his duties at the joint Seminar, Bostwick will be calling on legislative officials in Washington and will make a side trip to New York City in order to include several industrial contacts in this agenda.

Bostwick, will succeed Hoenshell, in May, as President of the American Industrial Development Council, a national independent, non-profit association of professional laymen concerned with effective and balanced industrial development. The Council has a membership of over 1,100 representatives from utilities, railroads, banks, and Chambers of Commerce.

Bostwick, a director of the council since 1965, will continue to serve AIDC in his present capacity as First Vice President until he becomes president this spring.

Britschgi Backs Typos

Assemblyman Carl A. "Ike" Britschgi, chairman of the Government Administration Committe of the State Assembly today backed the International Typographical Union's Sacramento chapel in urging that departments centralize their printing in the established state printing plant.

It was pointed out that individual departments are doing large volume duplicating jobs, idling men and equipment already provided in the state plant.

Britschgi said that state printing facilities have been modernized to offer quick service to all departments.

"Setting up individual duplicating efforts always calls for more personnel and results in higher costs," Britschgi said, "and I am confident we can save money for the state and maintain service if we utilize the facilities available."

Cornelius J. Sullivan, president of Sacramento Typographical Union, Local 46, appeared before the committe to support the request.

TO CONVEY STORM DRAINAGE EASEMENT TO CITY OF SAN MATEO

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo intends to convey the storm drainage easement hereinafter described to the City of San Mateo without payment therefor; and

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that TUESDAY, the 11th day of MARCH, 1969, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock A.M., in the Supervisors' Room of the Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, California, are the time and place, respectively, when the Board of Supervisors of said County intends to take the action above mentioned; and

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that said storm drainage easement to be conveyed by said County to said City as hereinabove provided is a storm drainage easement for the purpose of installing, operating and maintaining a 53'' X 83'' - "Lo-Hed" concrete pipe within a strip of land twenty feet (20') in width, the center line of which is described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the centerline of that certain fifteen (15.00) foot wide easement as said easement is described in the deed of easement from the County of San Mateo, a Municipal Corporation, recorded October 5, 1960, in Volume 3870, at page 363, Official Records of San Mateo County; said point of beginning being distant North 18° 17' 56'' West 50.00 feet from the northerly terminus of the arc of the tangent curve described in the above instrument, said curve having a radius of 100.00 feet; a central angle of 60° 00' 00'', an arc distance of 104.72 feet; thence from said true point of beginning in a southwesterly direction South 26° 43' West 93.00 feet more or less to a point on the northerly right-of-way line of the Bayshore Freeway in San Mateo County, Road IV-SM-68-SM; said right-of-way line being the southwesterly terminus of twenty (20.00) foot wide easement herein described.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the terms and conditions upon which said storm drainage easement shall be conveyed by said County to said City are as follows:

a. That all excavations necessary to the installation and maintenance of said drainage facilities shall be backfilled and the ground surface shall be maintained in a condition satisfactory to the County Engineer of the County of San Mateo.

b. That storm drainage easement shall be granted subject to all of the rights, if any, of Reclamation District No. 2097 in said real property.

Dated this 11th day of FEBRUARY, 1969.

(Seal) MARVIN CHURCH,
County Clerk and ex-officio clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

Published in The San Mateo Post, at San Mateo, California 94402, Wednesday, February 19, 1969. (P-1092)

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, will receive sealed bids for NEW RECOVERY ROOM IN SURGERY DEPARTMENT OF SAN MATEO COUNTY GENERAL HOSPITAL, 222 W. 39th Avenue, San Mateo, California, For the County of San Mateo

2. Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications, and contract documents prepared therefor now on file with the Purchasing Agent, County of San Mateo, Courthouse, Redwood City, California.

3. Drawings, specifications, and contract documents may be examined and copies obtained at the office of the County Purchasing Agent, Redwood City, California, upon deposit of $25.00 for said documents, which deposit will be forfeited if the Contractor fails to return the drawings and specifications in good condition within ten (10) days of the bid opening date.

4. A complete set of drawings, specifications and contract documents may be examined at the office of the San Mateo County Director of Building Construction, County Government Center, County Office Building, Redwood City, California.

5. Bidders are responsible to see that they obtain a complete set of plans, specifications and contract documents covering the work upon which they submit a bid.

6. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished and bound in the specifications and in accordance with regulations, as set forth in the General Conditions, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond for 10% of the amount of the bid as noted in said General Conditions.

7. Seniors' Party In Burlingame

Senior Citizens' Organization of Burlingame will give a birthday dinner party on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Burlingame Recreation Center to commemorate the thirteenth anniversary of its founding.

Special guests will include city officals and other prominent citizens. Those invited are the Honorable Charlotte Johnson, mayor, William Johnson, the Reverend and Mrs. T. Elmer Smith, Ed Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwalm, Mrs. Marjorie Bolton, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Russell, city editor of the San Mateo Times, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Foley.

The highlight of the evening will be entertainment by the Elks Club Band under direction of Jack Flanders.

Members of the committee in charge o fthis special event are Mrs. Charlotte Edler, chairman, Mrs. Flora Glover, Mrs. Lulu Bielefeldt, Mrs. Dee Wood, and Mrs. Dorothy Shay.

The Burlingame Senior Citizens were originated 13 years ago under the auspices of the Burlingame Recreation Center, the Assistance League and Volunteer Bureau of San Mateo County.

The membership which began with 35 members has grown to a total of 287 members. During the past seven years the organization has been self-governing and self-supporting.

Burlingame citizens of 50 years of age or over are invited to attend the Friday meetings at the Burlingame Recreation Center. New memberships are encouraged.

San Carlos Folk Guitar Classes Set

San Carlos Park and Recreation Department announced that space is still available in all three folk guitar classes for spring 1969.

In the beginners' class, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. on Wednesday at Burton Park, instruction will be in the fundamentals of tuning, chording, and picking and strumming.

Students in the intermediate class willbe learning to read music, to understand basic chordal construction, and will be given instruction in more advanced chording and strumming. This class begins at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday at Burton Park.

Advanced players will be concentrating on the three-finger pick and its many variations, and the use of these picks and advanced chord patterns. The class will be held at Burton Park from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, beginning this week.

Those interested in any of these classes may register at the San Carlos Park and Recreation Department office or may sign up on the first night of the class.

Belle Air Slates Party

Belle Air School P-TA will host a Founders' Day birthday partyin the school cafetorium on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Along with the birthday cake there will be a variety of dances plus a Spanish bull fight presented by children of the school.

Highlight of the evening will be the annual presentation of the Honorary Life Membership Award to a deserving person who has donated time and effort on behalf of children in the community. A charter presentation will be made to Pack 271 by the P-TA.

Chairmen for the event are Mrs. Fred Merat and Mrs. Warren Peterson.

Hoedown Set At Parkside

The Pairs N Spare Square Dance Club will celebrate George Washington's Birthday with a hoedown at Parkside School, Cherry and Niles Avenue, San Bruno, on Saturday, February 22, 1969.

Ed Looney will be guest caller, sharing the program with club caller Howard Hillyer. The theme will be patriotic and the decor in conjunction with the holiday.

Dancing will be from 8:30 to midnight. Intermediate and advanced dancers are invited to join for a fun night of dancing and refreshments.

This activity is sponsored by the San Bruno Recreation Department.

Temple to Mark 'Music Month'

At a meeting of the Women's Group of Peninsula Sinai Temple, 715 North San Mateo Drive, San Mateo, Mrs. Harold Rosner, president, announced that Music Month will be celebrated at the meeting this Wednesday.

Varda Raczi, born in Israel, wife of Dr. Gerald Goldman, is a professional dancer and at present is a teacher of modern dance at the "Y" in Palo Alto. She will perform an interpretive Israeli dance and teach the "Hora" to the memebers of the Women's Group at this meeting.

Offer Class In Ceramics

Burlingame Recreation Department will offer a class in Ceramic Sculpture on Monday nights from 7:30 until 10 p.m.

The class will be held at the Center, 850 Burlingame Avenue. Registration is being taken now Mondays thru Fridays from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and 1 to 4 p.m. Burlingame Resident Fee is $15 and Non-resident Fee is $17.50. Fee includes firing.

The Ceramic Sculpture class will feature new methods of approach in clay sculpture. Students are not required to have had previous experience working with clay.

Donald Knudsen will instruct the class. He has studied art at San Francisco State College and San Jose State College. He is active in art circles on the Peninsula and his work has won awards in local shows. He is a member of American Craftsman Council, Peninsula Art Association, Bay Area Arts and Crafts Guild, and Foster City Art League, and has been a guest lecturer at the College of Notre Dame in Belmont.

Top Citizen Is Selected

San Carlos Jaycees will present an Outstanding Citizen's night Wednesday in the Pacifica Room at San Mateo's Villa Hotel.

Candidates include H. J. Johnson, Mrs. Audie Justice, Thor Madsen, Baul Bene and Mrs. Barbara Polson.

Speaker will be Drew Frolich, chairman of the Board of the California Jaycees.

Cocktail hour will begin at 7:30 p.m. with dinner at 8.

Tickets at $6.25 a person are available from Jim Rexrode, Bank of America, San Carlos, or Keith Vaughn, Laurel Furniture, San Carlos.

Fiesta Theme for Carnival At Eugvall School Mar. 8

A gala Fiesta theme will highlight the carnival to be staged by Engvall P-TA at the school on March 8 from 2 to 8 p.m.

Some 15 booths will be featured including one which gives students the unusual opportunity of dumping Principal Lloyd Garcia in a tub of water.

For a small fee, one may try and "dunk the principal."

"This (potential) total emersion marks a change for Principal Garcia who at past carnivals has been hit with wet sponges," a spokesman said.

The popular "Green Thumb" booth, where little plants are offered at a very little price, will be featured. There will be a "village store" with new and "white elephant" items, plus the usual carnival booths.

Activities of the science, photography, flight, and other clubs at the school will be spotlighted at a special booth with the proceeds going to these student activities. This will be under the direction of teacher Michael Dirksen.

Authentic Mexican food will be featured with half-size "Tiny-Tot" portions available.

Mrs. Delfino Citrino is chairman of the carnival; her co-chairmen are Mrs. Harl Pugh and Mrs. John Carollo.

Other committee chairmen include: Tickets, Mrs. Carl Muehlendorf; Prizes, Mrs. Harl Pugh and Charles Hanley; Games, Mrs. B. J. Jester; Runners, Mrs. John Zapien and Mrs. Richard Bosley; Village Store, Mrs. Robert Klass; Green Thumb, Mrs. Albert Lacy; Spin Art, Mrs. Warren Hagberg and Mrs. Owen Thompson; Refreshments, Mrs. Joseph Busch, and Art, Mrs. Ray Snethen. Each room representative will be in charge of a booth.

Prizes are unusual and home-made. Those making them include the Mmes. Citrino, Pugh, Carrolo, Busch, Johansen, Graff, Bawden, Meyer, Amos, Wuerth, Chrisman, Hutchins, Herbert, Olson, Melott, Nelson, Cooper, Bosley, Benneditti, Brodskey, Sickelbowson, and Miklos.

2 Boys Held In Explosion At Daly City

Two more juvenile boys have been arrested in connection with an explosion which injured three persons at a Daly City apartment house last Saturday night, police reported today.

Officers said the boys, both 13, were arrested Tuesday and Wednesday. A 14-year-old boy was arrested in the case Sunday. All three have been turned over to juvenile authorities at Hillcrest, police said.

Mrs. Maria Helwig, most seriously injured of the blast victims, is still in the intensive care unit at Mary's Help Hospital, where she is reported in "fair" condition and "progressing."

Mrs. Helwig is undergoing treatment for second and third degree burns upon her face, hands and feet.

Her husband, Lawrence, is reported in satisfactory condition.

Fund-Raising 'Rainmaker'

As a fund raising project, the Misty Hills Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., has purchased the opening night presentation of the Pacifica Spindrift Players current play, "The Rainmaker," opening February 28 at 8:30 p.m. at Oddstad Center in Pacifica.

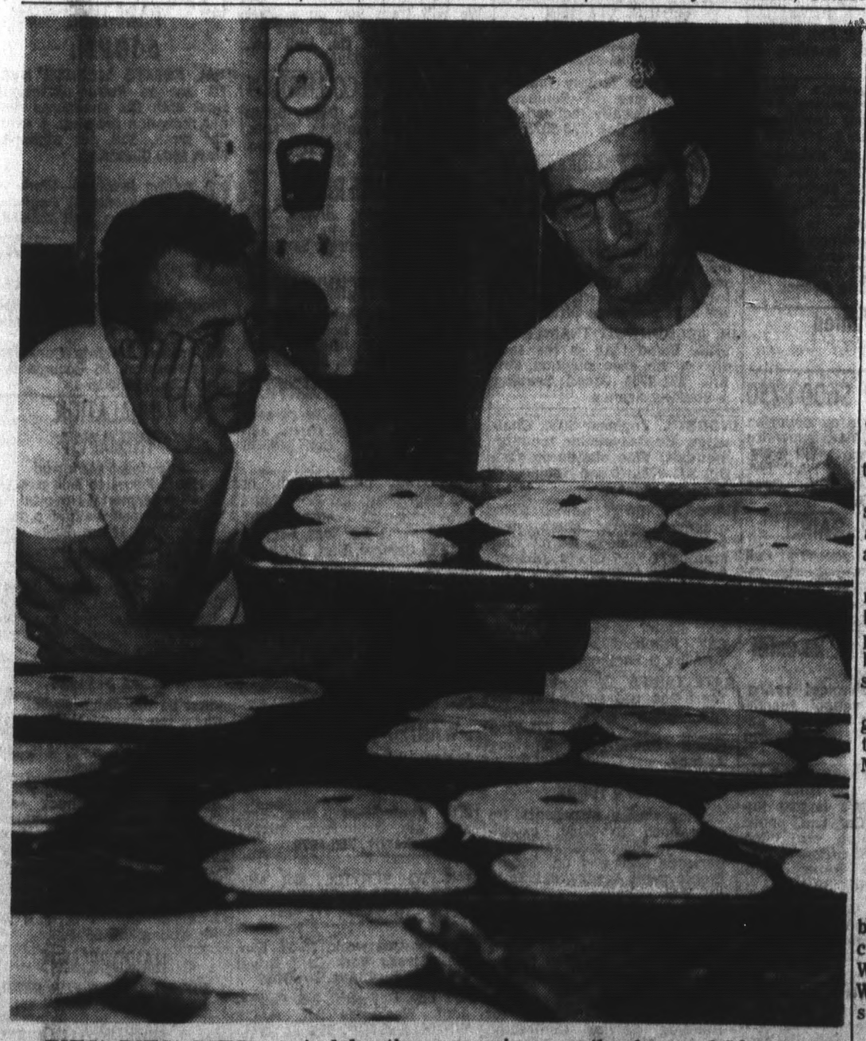
Opening night tickets are available from any Misty Hills Chapter member or by calling Betty Bashaw of Daly City, Aida Tozzi and Jan Scovill both of Pacifica, Elaine Rice of San Bruno, or Joan Magnani of San Mateo. Adult tickets are $1.50, students $1.

Tickets also may be purchased at the door on opening night.

Lachman Buys SSF Warehouse

A $1 million transaction involving the sale of a large warehouse building in South San Francisco to Lachman Brothers has been announced by Coldwell, Banker & Co. The 210,000 square-foot building is in the Lindenville Industrial Tract at South Maple and Victory streets.

Lachman Brothers intend to service all warehousing for their five Bay Area stores directly from this large, modern facility. The sale was negotiated by Robert Nootbaar of Coldwell, Banker's San Francisco office.



PIES! PIES! PIES! — And by the expressions on the faces of Master Bakers (left to right) Dick Amandoli and Sidney Selman, they've had enough of them. It's all part of the Washington's Birthday celebration and party at Westlake Shopping Center Saturday. Shopping Center merchants will sell, on that day only, eight inch cherry pies for a mere 22 cents. Pie sale will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will continue as long as pies last. Four thousand pies are being readied. There's a limt of one per customer. (Post Photo)

Trustee Elections

Several Incumbents Have Not Yet Filed

With only three days remaining before the Thursday night deadline, a number of incumbent school trustees in North County districts had not filed papers for the April 15 election late Monday afternoon, James Sweeney, county administrative assistant, reported.

Candidates who had filed by Monday afternoon were:

Jefferson High School District: incumbents Elio Fontana and Edward Solomon and newcomers James D. Ayers, 66 Avalon Drive, Daly City, and Mrs. Jane Powell, 1461 South Mayfair Avenue, Daly City, a housewife.

Jefferson Elementary: Gordon H. Cartwright, a mortician who lives at 71 Baldwin Avenue, Daly City, and Eugene P. Camos, a teacher, who resides at 283 Del Prado Drive.

Laguna Salada Elementary District: incumbents Dale Buettgenback and Lee Rieweerts; Wilbur C. Frye, o 1238 Lerida Way, Pacifica.

South San Francisco Unified School District: incumbents Lorraine Cooper, Leo L. Eserina and Leo Padreddii; Robert Craig, 2518 Albright Way, a college professor; Harmon J. Hallett, 75 Calvert Avenue, a salesman, and Evan Lee, 322 North Fairway, a teacher.

County Clerk Marvin Church reminds all eligible electors that registration closes on Thursday for the Consolidated School Governing Board member elections to be held on April 15.

In the event you fall into one of the following categories, you should register to vote in the April 15th election. If you have moved, or changed your name; if you were cancelled for failing to vote at the General Election, November 1968, and did not return the card requesting reinstatement; or if you will turn 21 years of age by April 15.

Harlem Stars To 'Battle Jeff Faculty

The faculty "hotshots" of Jefferson High School in Daly City will attempt to stay in the game today at 8 p.m. when they face the Harlem Stars in the gym.

Tickets are on sale at the school today, and proceeds will aid the student body and BSCO at Jefferson.

The Stars provide entertainment as well as classy basketball, featuring planned and impromptu comedy, razzle-dazzle ball handling and a variety of shenanigans.

Principal Ed Gereghino is general manager of the faculty team, with Joe Bava and Ike McClanahan player-coaches.

Public Speaking Classes Planned

Public speaking classes will be held at the South San Francisco evening high school on Wednesdays, from 7-10 p.m., William Simonson, class instructor, reminded today.

"Material and text will come from everyday life, work situations, family and current newspaper articles and the public library, rather than from formal textbooks," Simonson said.

The classes will be held at South San Francisco High School.

Luceti Gets 'Pole' in S.F. Golf Tourney

Dr. Jack Luceti, the golfing Daly City dentist, showed the way home in the fifty-third annual San Francisco City Golf qualifying championships at Harding Park yesterday.

Luceti fired a three-under-par 69 on the Harding Fairways yesterday after carving out a one-over 70 at Lincoln Park on Saturday. The 139 total gave him the pole position in the annual championships, which get underway next weekend.

Three strokes back and tied with Mike Moriarity and Forrest Fezler is San Mateo's Tommy Culligan III. Culligan strung together rounds of 69-73 for a 142 total.

Other locals finishing high in the championship flight were Keith Mattos of San Mateo and South City's Dean Prince, both with 148s, and fireman Tom Smith, also of South SF, with a 149.

FATHER'S NIGHT

"Father's night" is the theme for today's meeting of the Skyline School P-TA. Officers of the unit will have their husbands take over their duties for the evening. A film, "Neighbors" will precede a "buzz" session.

11 Injured As Cars Crash On Bayshore

Eleven persons, including eight of 11 occupants of a station wagon, were injured at 4:15 p.m. Sunday in a traffic accident on Bayshore Freeway in San Bruno.

Highway patrolmen said the station wagon, driven by Maria Ethel Echegoyen, 33-year-old San Francisco beautician, was northbound when the right rear tire blew out. When the car slowed, officers said, it was rammed from behind by a sedan driven by Alfred E. Partridge, 35, of San Rafael, an employe of the State Division of Highways.

Listed as injured were Patrick, his wife, Pansy, 41, and daughter, Martha, 3, Mrs. Echegoyen and seven passengers in her car, all residents of San Francisco; William Rosales, 14, Ninette Ugarte, 16, Louis Echegoyen, Marvin Ugarte, Ammeryss Fonseca, 12, Michael Rosales, 11, and Debra Echegoyen, 12

Alll were released from Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco after treatment.

'Glory Road' Topic Chosen

"The Wonderful Summit of the Glory Road" is to be Pastor Walter Stram's 11 a.m. message on Sunday, at the Peninsula Church of Christ-Christian, in San Bruno, Angus Avenue at Masson.

Study groups for all ages are held each Sunday at 9:45 a.m. and 6 p.m.

"Church Backgrounds" studies will resume at 7:30 each Thursday night.

Rummage Sale To Benefit Church Fund

Mrs. Don Gibbons, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Wesley United Methodist Church, announced that the proceeds of their annual rummage sale to be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. February 28 and March 1, at the church, 1474 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, will benefit the church's building fund.

New and used items will be available which are of interest to everyone, Including will be children's and adult clothing, shoes, notions, furniture, books, and many other unusual items. Coffee, tea, and cake will also be served.

Committee members included Mrs. David Pierce, Mrs. Louis Guisti, Mrs. Geraldine O'Connot, Mrs. William McGlaughlin, Mrs. Jack Brickley, Mrs. Jesse Mark, Mrs. James Kelly, Mrs. Robert Fossum, Mrs. Rupert Medina, and Mrs. James McGuigan.

Midweek Rites Are Scheduled

Midweek Lenten Services with the general theme of "Hands That Count" will be held at Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church, South San Francisco, beginning Ash Wednesday, February 19.

Interim Pastor Elmer Laursen will speak that night on the subject, "Loving Hands."

During following midweek services various pastors of the Peninsula area will be exchanging pulpits.

Services are from 7:30 to 8:15 p.m.

Evangelist Due in SSF

Jake Boggs, gifted and widely known evangelist from Charleston, W.Va., will be coming to the First Baptist Church in South San Francisco for a week-long Revival Meeting.

These meetings will be held February 23-March 2, starting at 7:15 p.m.

Red Cross In San Bruno

A special 30-hour course for those 17 years of age or older who want to become first aid instructors is being offered by San Mateo Region Red Cross.

The free course will be given from Febraury 25 through March 27 on Tuesday and Thursdays, from 7 through 10 p.m. It will be t aught by Charles "Spud" Abbott of San Mateo, at the San Bruno Recreation Center on Crystal Springs Road.

AT CONGREGATION B'NAI ISRAEL

'A New Confrontation?' to Be Raab Topic Tonight

"A New Confrontation?" will be the topic of Earl Raab, executive director of the Jewish Community Relations Council when he appears as guest speaker in the 1969 series of the Adult Education Program of Congregation B'nai Israel.

The event will take place at the Templehouse today at 8 p.m. and is open to the public.

There will be no admission charge and refreshments will be served.

Congregation B'nai Israel will host clergymen and community leaders of the Daly City and Colma area at a luncheon in honor of Brotherhood Week, February 16 through February 22, at the Temple on Thursday at noon.

Rabbi Solomon A. Shore announced that Cantor Henry Greenberg will be master of ceremonies and a prominent Christian clergyman will be the principal speaker.

The Sisterhood will parpare and serve the luncheon, under the direction of Mrs. Bernard Friedman, president.

Sabbath Services at Congregation B'nai Israel on Friday, will be in honor of Brotherhood Week. Rabbi Solomon A. Shore and Cantor Henry Greenberg will officiate and services begin at 8:30 p.m.

The Rev. Thomas Unmacht, pastor of the Westlake Lutheran Church and President of the Daly City Ministerlai Association will be guest speaker. The entire Jewish and Christian community is cordially invited to attend.

The Hashacher-Young Judea youth groups will meet at Congregation B'nai Israel on February 26 at 7 p.m. Three groups meet covering the ages of 9 to 11, 12 to 13 and 14 to 18.

Information may be had by callingtheTempleoffice.

Collection Plate Around In Reverse

Children of the Pacifica Seventh-day Adventist Sabbath School have gone into business for God.

The collection plate went around "in reverse" — the children took out a dollar bill instead of putting it in. This is "seed money" for investment.

At the close of the year they will return it, with the money they have been able to raise through its investment.

They have joined with Adventist children throughout the world to invest in a variety of business projects, dedicating the returns to a mission investment offering. Projects range from investing in seed and selling flowers or vegetables grown — selling home-baked goods to selling hand-made products.

Adventists teach that such investments, like the practice of giving a tenth of one's income as tithe to the church, are an expression of gratitude to God and worthy of special blessing.

Since the Adventist's Sabbath School Investment plan was first adopted in 1925, over $16 million has been raised for missions, and currently it represents an income of over $1,000,000 yearly.

All are invited to come to "the friendly church" Saturday mornings at 1500 Perez Drive (Linda Mar section of Pacifica). Sabbath School 9:30-10:45 a.m. — Church services 11 to 12 a.m.
